Seven Persons Killed

Communists Shell Saigon to Disrupt National Day Parade

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong unleashed an artillery bombardment on the center of Saigon today in a spectacular but unsuccessful attempt to disrupt South Viet Nam's National Day observances.

Six Vietnamese and one American were known dead. Conflicting reports listed up to 24 more killed but these reports could not be verified. The one American known dead was a Navy officer.

At least 30 Vietnamese and five Americans were wounded in the bombardment, the first time the Viet Cong shelled the capital with mortar and recoilless rifle fire.

The Viet Cong hurled 24 rounds of 75mm recoilless rifle fire in and around the parade route, U.S. military headquarters said. Vietnamese authorities reported mortar shells also struck during the shelling.

The bombardment hit Saigon's Roman Catholic cathedral, a Catholic school, the John F. Kennedy Square, the Saigon central market and the French-built Grall Hospital, the biggest in the capital.

The bombardment, first of its kind by the Viet Cong against Saigon, failed to interrupt the massive parade marking the third anniversary of the overthrow of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

For two hours and 20 minutes, soldiers of the South Vietnamese armed forces and the six nations allied with them paraded before tens of thousands and leading Vietnamese and foreign dignitaries.

U.S. military headquarters said the shelling came from a point 3½ miles southeast of Saigon near An Khanh Ka. Six U.S. gunship helicopters closed in on the area and artillery spotter planes were aloft. A ground force of allied troops also swept the area.

Companion Captured

Fox Lake Escapee Slain in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — One man returned the fire, emptying his .38 pistol. The fugitives finally were shot and killed early today in a high speed chase that ended in a gunfight with police in front of Milwaukee's central police headquarters.

The dead man was identified by police as Larry E. Gilchrist, 24, a former Mauston resident whose wife and two children were living in Milwaukee. He was killed by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun fired by Milwaukee patrolman Clifford Pilak.

Captured was Harold P. Kannich, 23, of Brookfield. Before he was subdued and taken into custody, he fought with a police officer and broke the officer's nose.

40 Police in Chase

As many as 40 police officers from suburban Wauwatosa and Milwaukee engaged in the chase and gun battle.

The chase, at speeds up to 90 miles an hour, began in Wauwatosa at 1:42 a.m., when Patrolman Terry Roundy recognized from a previous description the automobile in which the two fugitives were riding.

The chase led across lawns and the wrong way on a one-way street several miles into downtown Milwaukee. Squad cars from both Wauwatosa and Milwaukee participated. Several shots were exchanged.

Patrolman Dale Haberman, 33, Roundy's partner, said Kannich was driving the fugitive car and apparently was unarmed. But Gilchrist, who had a .22 caliber pistol, started firing at the squad car and Haberman returned the fire, emptying his .38 pistol.

The fugitives finally were shot and killed early today in a high speed chase that ended in a gunfight with police in front of Milwaukee's central police headquarters.

Former Superior Man Arrested for Spying

'Mighty Good Job'

'We're Proud of You,' Johnson Tells GIs Stationed in Korea

CAMP STANLEY, Korea (AP) — "Keep your chin up and your chest out — we are proud of you and I came here to tell you so," President Johnson today told American troops confronting the Communists in Korea.

The President traveled by train and helicopter into the rugged South Korean countryside to pay tribute to Korean and American troops guarding the 151-mile border with Communist North Korea.

Speaking earnestly and in a low voice Johnson in an off-the-cuff speech told the troops 20 miles south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea they were "doing a mighty good job" of protecting freedom in the United States and many parts of the world. He said no matter what they may read about anti-Viet Nam demonstrators or draft card burners, the great bulk of Americans are like them — standing up for freedom.

Johnson began his second day in South Korea with an hour's meeting with President Chung Hee Park. They discussed Viet Nam, where South Korea has 45,000 troops, and Park's request for more U.S. funds to equip troops to replace them at home.

After their talk, Johnson and Park drove through cheering, flag-waving crowds to take a special train for a 19-mile ride to the headquarters of the 26th Korean Infantry Division and nearby U.S. Camp Stanley.

At the Korean camp Johnson conferred U.S. Silver Star medals on three South Korean heroes of the Viet Nam war. He presented one to the widow of Maj. Lee In-ho, who was killed when he threw himself on a Viet Cong grenade to shield his men.

Watch Karate Experts After watching Korean experts at karate smash stacks of tiles with their bare fists, the President took a helicopter to Camp Stanley, where 5,000 U.S. Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine troops had been brought.

Brazilians Deny Intrigue In Arrests

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Brazilian official says allegations of intrigue related by a convicted smuggler who fled Brazil and returned to his Texas home are "ridiculous."

The Texan, pilot Joseph A. Truhill, 47, of Richardson, said his conviction resulted from plans of Gen. Rio Grandino Krcel, former chief of Brazil's federal security police, to seize a B26 aircraft for use in a search for a missing 400-carat diamond named 007.

The plane was owned by Sam Sexton Jr., 41, of Fort Smith, Ark., who escaped last week with Truhill and Joseph McCutcheon, 36, also of Fort Smith. The plane still is held in Brazil.

Brasilia Police Chief Jurandir Palma Cabral said Truhill's charge was "ridiculous," since the security police "can use air force planes whenever it needs them."

German-Born Airman Accused; Red Diplomat Ordered Out of U. S.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A German-born U.S. airman has been arrested and a Soviet diplomat ordered to leave the country in the fourth major American spy case reported since July by the FBI.

Staff Sgt. Herbert William Boeckenhaupt, 23, was seized Monday by FBI agents at March Air Force Base in Riverside, Calif. He was arraigned

Boeckenhaupt here on a charge of conspiring to commit espionage to deliver to a Russian diplomat "information relating to the national defense of the United States."

Boeckenhaupt, who lived in Superior, Wis., with his family since immigrating to the United States in 1948, pleaded innocent. He was ordered held on $50,000 bail.

FBI Reveals Arrest After the FBI announced the sergeant's arrest, the State Department asked Aleksey R. Malinin, commercial counsel at the Soviet Embassy in Washington, to leave the country as soon as possible.

Boeckenhaupt, stationed at the Pentagon from April 1964 to August 1965, allegedly met secretly with Malinin in June 1965 and April 1966. He had enlisted in the Air Force in 1960 at the age of 17.

The FBI did not disclose whether any money was involved in the alleged meetings, nor whether any information was actually passed.

Agents also refused to say what Boeckenhaupt's duties were at the Pentagon, although he was a communications repairman at March.

The FBI said Boeckenhaupt met with Malinin in June 1965, in an Arlington, Va., suburb where Malinin questioned the serviceman about his duties at the Pentagon.

The men reportedly met again in a bowling alley parking lot last April, and Malinin gave Boeckenhaupt a 35mm slide that pinpointed "drop areas" and meeting places, the FBI said.

Boeckenhaupt lives with his wife near March Air Force Base. Agents said his apartment was searched with the sergeant's consent last week.

U.S. Commissioner Russell R. Herman, set a preliminary hearing on the case for Nov. 18. "I'm not guilty," the tall, dark-haired sergeant told newsmen.

Malinin, 45, came to the United States Sept. 12, 1963 and was assigned to the Soviet Embassy two months later.

Pact Expires, Union Strikes Westinghouse

Report Pickets At Some Plants; Others Operational

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Westinghouse Electric Corp., one of the nation's largest electrical products manufacturers, was struck today by the 14,000-member AFL-CIO International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Picket lines were reported at a few Westinghouse locations throughout the country at 12:01 a.m. when the IBEW contract expired.

Extent of the strike was not clear as the union and the company issued conflicting reports. A spokesman at the IBEW's bargaining headquarters said "pickets are up at all locations at the present time," but a Westinghouse official said, "as far as we know, no plants in the circuit have given indication they will strike."

New York Plant

However, a company spokesman at the firm's Youngwood, Pa., plant reported that about 200 IBEW workers walked off the job at midnight and set up picket lines at the plant gates. Some 600 members of the independent American Flint Glass Workers Union walked out at Westinghouse's Bath, N.Y., plant.

A check with several other plants reported work continuing normally.

Federal mediators met with both sides for 3½ hours Monday before the talks broke off. Mediators said "each side remained adamant," but added that they

Jurors Visit Scene of Mrs. Sheppard's Death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — 42, says she was slain by a Samuel H. Sheppard's jury in the murder of his first wife today visited the suburban lake-front home where the couple once lived and where she died in 1954 with 27 bone-deep gashes in her head.

Their view of the scene will be followed with opening court arguments in Sheppard's second-degree murder retrial, now in its second week. His original jury conviction 12 years ago was upset by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Owned by Lawyer

The Sheppards' home now is owned by a lawyer, John R. Hull, who has agreed to inspection of the premises by the seven male and five women jurors.

It was in an upstairs bedroom that the body of Marilyn Sheppard, then 31 and four months pregnant, was found the morning of July 4, 1954. Sheppard,

Lock Jury Up Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty ordered the jury locked up as of tonight. The Supreme Court was critical of the failure to isolate the original trial jury when it was not in court.

Judge Talty told the jurors they would stay in a Cleveland hotel.

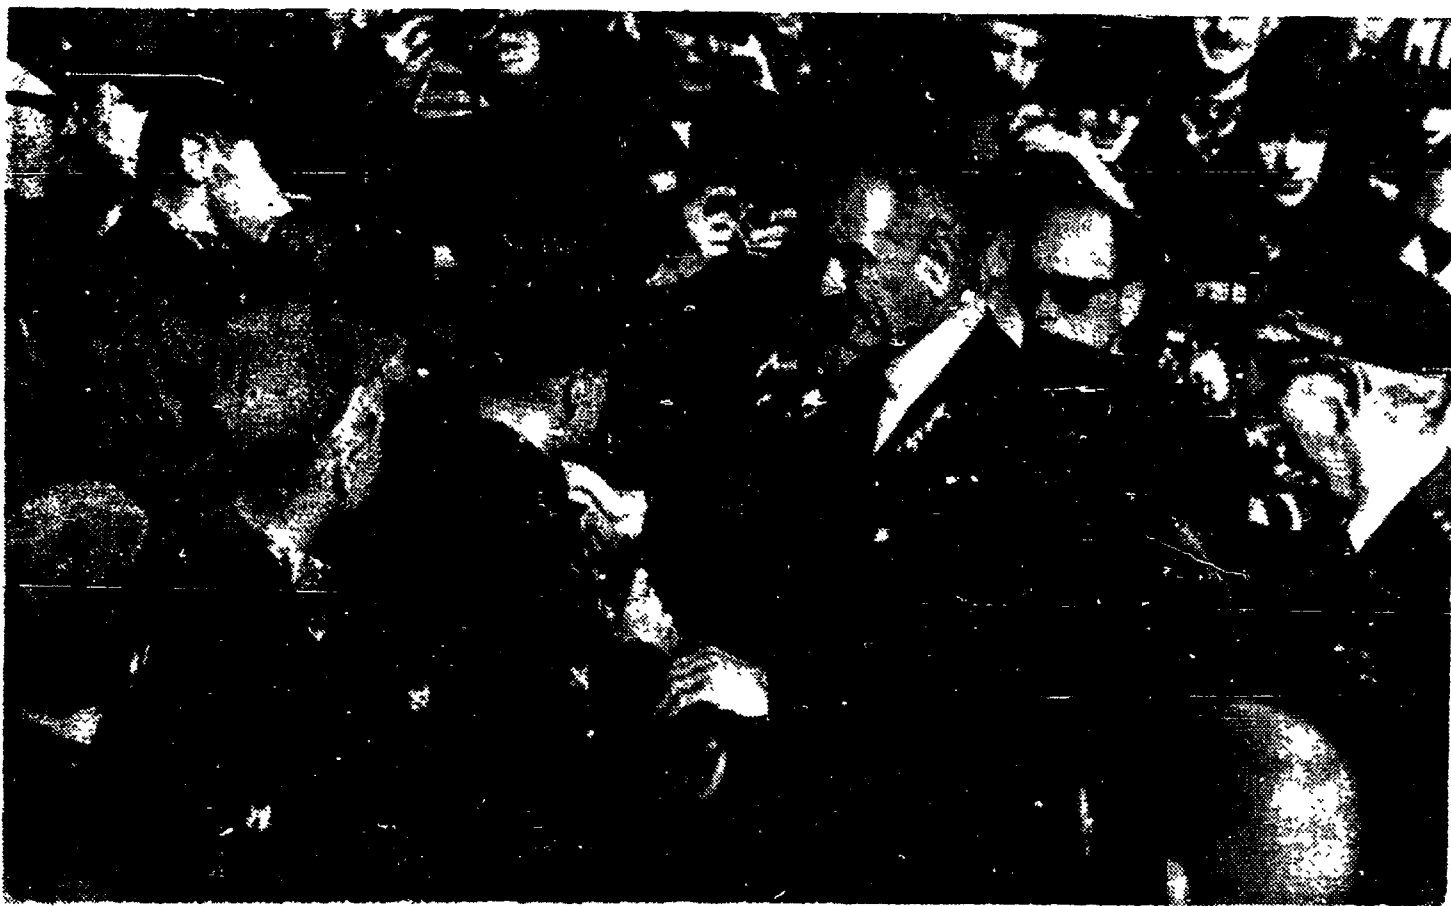

In another decision, Talty ruled that Sheppard's trial would remain in Cleveland. The defense sought to have it moved elsewhere on grounds that "general exposure" to publicity had made impartialing of an unbiased jury impossible.

Democrat Myhra Challenges Odds-on Favorite

Tough GOP Tradition in 7th District

Norman L. Myhra is running for an office as a Democrat in a district which doesn't know such a thing exists.

"This is a very staunch Republican area," is the way he understates the situation. But he adds, "That doesn't bother me any."

Myhra, born near Amherst in Portage County and now living in Stevens Point, has the unenviable task of unseating the 14-year incumbent in the 7th congressional district, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Marshfield.

Myhra's campaign is one he has organized himself and one he conducts primarily by himself. He campaigns with his wife often, but gone are the streams of party backers which traditionally flock around candidates.

The campaign has been a firing one and the three weeks leading up to the Nov. 8 election are the worst. Myhra's normal work day is squeezed into a period that starts before 5 a.m. and ends after midnight.

"I have trouble relaxing these days," he admits. "The only way I can relax is by sitting down and doing nothing or by driving my car." His car has been driven 90,000 miles in the past two years.

Must Counties

Wood, Marathon and Portage counties he sees as musts for any candidate running for election from the 7th district. The counties contain the district's four largest cities — Stevens

The 7th district is big. It lies from Forest and Florence counties on the Upper Michigan border to Adams and Marquette counties, only scant miles from Wisconsin's capital city.

It has been Myhra's job to canvass this 15-county area and do it well if he expects to run even a reasonably close second place to Laird on Nov. 8. He has, of course, been in all the counties to campaign, but he concentrates his work in the three counties in the center of the state which have a higher population than the other 12 in the district.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Marshfield has been in the House of Representatives since 1952 and, unless he decides to seek higher political office some day, it is conceivable he will remain in Congress forever.

Laird Driving Hard Despite Victory Forecast

There are few spectacles more fun to participate in than an old-fashioned political rally, complete with plenty of blaring music, amplified voices, campaign signs, endless handshaking, backslapping and picture-taking and pretty girls.

Such fun is what makes voters gather around politicians; often it is what makes them vote for the man who provided the fun.

For Laird is one of the most influential Republicans in Congress. His credentials, which need not be listed, mean nothing, however, if he cannot get re-elected to Congress every two years to use them.

The 7th district incumbent was in Waupaca County last week and, when he left, it was doubtful if more than a small percentage of the voters in the cities and villages he visited, were unaware of his stop.

Flamboyant Trip

Laird's trip through the countryside — from Waupaca to Weyauwega to Fremont to Readfield to New London to Manawa to Clintonville — was every bit as flamboyant as a small scale national convention. He traveled, officially, with a caravan comprised of a dozen or so vehicles, including a sound truck which played over and over a tape recording of the congressman's deeds.

He is running against a man who, except for the fact that the 7th district is overwhelmingly Republican, would be a formidable opponent. The Democratic challenger is Assemblyman Norman L. Myhra of Stevens Point.

Laird is campaigning as if he were running in second place against the Green Bay Packers in Brown County and amazes even his campaign aides in the process. "It's a wonder he doesn't have a heart attack," said an assistant. "We're having trouble just keeping up with him."

Never Misses Trick

"I know my opponent isn't campaigning very hard," Laird explained during an infrequent respite from the campaign grind. "But that's no reason for me to let up."

He never misses a trick. One

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Communist party chief Leonid I. Brezhnev appealed today for international cooperation for peace. He made only a brief attack on U. S. action in Viet Nam and omitted the usual mention of Communist terms for ending the war.

This seemed significant to some observers in Moscow because of recent unconfirmed reports that the Soviet leadership is seeking a way to end the Vietnamese war.

Brezhnev spoke in Tbilisi, capital of Soviet Georgia. His speech was televised.

Brezhnev accused the United States of "criminal aggression in Viet Nam." But he did not elaborate on this as major Soviet speakers usually have done in past months. Instead the general secretary of the Soviet Communist party criticized Red China's Communist party and its government leaders for refusing to join with Soviet bloc countries in aid to North Viet Nam.

Further Aid

The Soviet Union "will further render all-round aid and support to struggling Viet Nam," Brezhnev declared.

"We are firmly convinced," he said, "that cooperation in the interests of peace and international security is also possible with those Western governments and political and public figures who look soberly on the international situation and who are ready to follow in practice the principles of the peaceful coexistence of states with different social systems."

The United Nations, he continued, "can and must find the strength to become a useful instrument of peace."

Surprised Burglar Leaves Door Open

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The burglar who cut through a screen to get into Michael Fair's home probably didn't know about Kamou, the watch lioness who was lounging alone inside.

The intruder scooped up $200 worth of guns, a radio, record player and clothing.

"Then I think Kamou scared him," Fair told police Monday. "He left the back door open and also the gate."

Within minutes, startled residents of the quiet northwest Mesa neighborhood were telephoning police late Sunday night.

The barking of his dog aroused H.D. Hedgpeth, and he went outside to see his five-pound Chihuahua attacking Kamou, a 140-pounder. The dog was sent rolling with a slap of the lioness' paw.

There She Was Hedgpeth said, "There was the lion staring at me, its eyes shining in the dark."

Soon after, police had leashed the lioness. They took her to a veterinary hospital, but it lacked proper facilities for an 11-month-old lion, so they allowed Fair to take her home with a warning to keep his pet behind doors.

"It's had all its shots, and Fair has a license for it," an officer said.

Kamou Declared

Fair, 31, said Kamou had been declared and her teeth filed. Normally, the lioness stays in a compound behind the house. Fair left her in the house Sunday as a guard.

Because of her size, Fair has been planning to give her to the Phoenix Zoo.

"But I'm going to keep her as long as she doesn't give me trouble," he said. "It wasn't her fault that she escaped."

And he is not blaming her for letting the burglar escape with the goods.

$81,000 Bail Set for 19 Minutemen

Tons of Weapons, Ammunition Seized In New York Raids

NEW YORK (AP) — Bail totaling $81,000 has been set by a Queens Criminal Court judge for 19 men accused of plotting to blow up three private camps. Tons of weapons and ammunition were seized along with the men — identified by officials as members of the Minutemen, a right-wing organization which trains its members in guerrilla warfare — in a series of pre-dawn raids Sunday.

At their arraignment Monday on charges of conspiracy to commit arson, Prosecutor Howard Cerny asked for high bail because "these people were acting in utter disregard for the lives of their neighbors."

Defense attorney F. Courts Bouse labeled the arrests "an election gimmick" but Cerny denied the charge. Queens Dist. Atty. Nat H. Hentel, an appointee of Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, is seeking election to a full term next Tuesday. Cerny told Judge Bernard Dubin that the mass of evidence and the number of defendants precluded an immediate trial. Hearings were set for Nov. 22.

Hentel said Monday that Syracuse police had seized the records of Milton Kellogg, 38, whom he identified as "the man we believe to be the eastern regional director" of the Minutemen.

He stressed that Kellogg was not being sought in the case which has been under investigation since January.

Manslaughter Charge Filed In Green Bay

GREEN BAY (AP) — A rural Green Bay man was arraigned today in Brown County court on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death Sunday of Terrance F. Krueger, 25, of Oconto.

Krueger died in a Green Bay hospital early Sunday morning shortly after he suffered body cuts when he was knocked through a plate glass window during a fight with Clark Umentun, 26, according to authorities. Umentun appeared before County Judge James Byers today. A preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 18 and bond set at $1,000.

Witnesses told police that Krueger was riding down an east side street when four men threw beer at the car. Krueger got out of the car and during the heated exchange of words, he was shoved through a large plate glass window.

Colored Oleo Foe Changes Stance

LA CROSSE (AP) — Assemblyman Norbert Nuttleman, a dairy farmer, says he "will no longer vote against repeal of the ban on colored oleo."

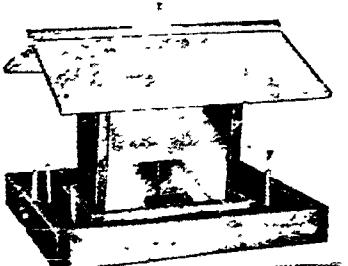

The West Salem Republican, president of the La Crosse County Guernsey Breeders Association, said he still considers it an "unfair trade practice for a butter substitute to be colored yellow."

But "I represent the people," he said Monday during a Chamber of Commerce forum. "and I think the people want it (colored oleomargarine). I cannot in conscience vote against it any longer."

Nuttleman has voted consistently against repeal. Also participating in the panel discussion was Nuttleman's opponent in the Nov. 8 election, Virgil Roberts of Holmen, who said he too favors repeal of the oleo ban.

250,000 Veterans Take Advantage Of New GI Bill to Attend College

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 250,000 of America's "cold war" veterans have streamed onto College campuses this fall to continue their education with the aid of the new GI Bill, officials reported today.

Settlement of the Viet Nam war and the subsequent return to civilian life of many of the 336,000 troops now committed to the conflict would send the total zooming upward, they said, perhaps causing severe overcrowding in some schools.

Under the measure — commonly known as the "Cold War GI Bill" — signed by President Johnson on March 3, honorably discharged veterans with more than 180 days active military service since Jan. 31, 1955 are eligible for educational, housing and other benefits.

The program, approved by Congress without a dissenting vote, amounts to an extension of World War II and Korean War GI benefits, but on a reduced scale.

The Veterans Administration said 211,000 October benefit checks had been mailed by last Friday to veterans enrolled in colleges, universities and other institutions — such as vocational or business schools. Files of 35,000 applicants were being processed Monday, a spokesman said.

Officials said they expect the figure to level off at about 240,000 this school year. About 64,000 veterans attended summer classes after the program went into effect June 1.

Viet Nam Covered

The new bill covers veterans who served in the war in Viet Nam. But VA officials said their records do not show how many veterans of the Viet Nam conflict are benefiting from the measure.

There have been some complaints of delays in getting benefit checks to students, but officials said the same problems were encountered in the early days of the World War II and Korean War GI bill programs. "There haven't been many hardship cases," one official said. Under the new program, an unmarried student can collect $100 a month in educational aid, a married student with no children $125 a month and a student with two or more dependents $150 monthly.

A veteran is entitled to one month's benefits for each month spent in uniform — with a 36-month limit. Thus a veteran with three years of active service can receive payments spread over four nine-month school years.

Voter Apathy Common in Campaign, Magnuson Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Warren G. Magnuson said today candidates across the country are encountering voter apathy that may indicate little change in the political complexion of Congress.

"There are some hot spots of course — states in which there are some real live races — but generally there seems to be a great deal of apathy among the voters," he said.

Magnuson, Washington Democrat who heads the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, indicated in a telephone interview he thinks this failure of the average citizen to respond to Viet Nam, inflation and other issues will result in very little net turnover, particularly in Senate races.

One or Two Votes

"I don't think the Senate lineup will change more than one or two votes, either way," he said. "We could gain a seat or two or we could lose one or two."

Magnuson said he was not familiar with individual House contests except in his home state of Washington, where he currently is campaigning. There, he said, Democratic prospects are good.

Magnuson's view that the current Senate lineup of 67 Democrats and 33 Republicans will not be altered materially was shared to an extent by Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Morton told a news conference Monday he was claiming "only a modest (net) gain of three seats" in the Senate. He said he thinks the Republicans will reclaim the 38 House seats they lost in 1964 and add four or five governors to their list.

Anti-Americanism Growing in Guinea

Blame U. S. for Seizure, Continued Detention of Diplomats by Ghana

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — Anti-Americanism is reported mounting in Guinea following the refusal of Ghana's government to release a Guinean delegation held hostage in Accra.

Guinea charged that the United States had a hand in the detention of the 19 Guinean diplomats and students who were taken off a plane Saturday night when it stopped in Accra en route to a meeting of the Organization of African Unity in Ethiopia.

Ghana cleared the United States of any complicity and the U.S. State Department denied it played any part in the affair. But a broadcast from Guinea said 50,000 persons paraded in front of the U.S. Embassy in Conakry, the capital, Monday shouting "Down with the Yankees!" and "Yankees get out of Africa!"

Residence Invaded A U.S. State Department spokesman, Carl Bartsch, said in Washington that anti-American demonstrators also invaded the U.S. ambassador's residence in Conakry, breaking windows and some furniture.

U.S. Ambassador Robinson McIlvaine was put under house arrest in Conakry Sunday, but the State Department said he was allowed to leave his residence without a guard Monday. However, Bartsch said other members of the U.S. Embassy staff were under some sort of "office arrest."

The Conakry broadcast indicated the Guinean government felt the United States was in-involved because the Guineans arrested in Ghana were flying on an American airline, Pan American World Airways. The Pan American manager in Conakry also was placed under house arrest and was still restricted Monday.

Ghana's government chief, Lt. Gen. J.A. Ankrah, declared the Guinean delegation will not be released until Ghanaians held in Guinea are freed. He said Guinea is holding more than 100 Ghanaians who were arrested after a military coup overthrew President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana and he took refuge in Guinea.

Tension between Ghana and Guinea has been high since Nkrumah took refuge in Guinea last February.

Develop A Powerful Memory?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new book, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. Kaukauna Assured Of Aid for Sewage Treatment Plant

Still Unofficial, but City Can Expect Federal Help on Project

KAUKAUNA — City officials have received unofficial assurance that federal aid would be available to help finance construction of a sewage disposal plant which would provide primary and secondary sewage treatment as ordered by the State Department of Resource Development.

A federal aid request amounting to 30 per cent of the total anticipated $700,000 construction cost was made at an informal meeting at Madison of Arlin Christensen, deputy attorney

Census Slated For Parish

Appleton West Side To be Canvassed Nov. 13, Pastor Says

A census to collect information needed in developing a new Catholic congregation will be conducted in a section of the west side of Appleton from 1 to 4 p.m. Nov. 13, the Rev. Orville Janssen, pastor of the new St. Bernard Catholic Church, has announced.

The purpose of the census, involving more than 100 canvassers, according to Father Janssen, is to get information necessary for financing and building plans for the new parish. At the present time masses are conducted in Xavier High School.

Census takers will visit all homes in the parish territory including the area north of the Fox River, south of Spencer Street and west of Outagamie Street in Appleton; homes in the Town of Grand Chute west to U.S. 45 and homes in the Town of Menasha south to County Trunk U.

Scolding Locks To Expand Plant

Permit Issued for $120,000 Building; Construction Started

A permit for a $120,000 building expansion project at Scolding Locks Corp., 1520 W. Rogers St., was issued Monday by the department of inspections.

The firm is one of the country's leading manufacturers of hairpins and bobby pins.

The one-story building, which will expand manufacturing and storage facilities, will measure 204 by 117 feet.

Acquired Firm

Work has already been started by the Boldt Construction Co., Appleton.

Recently, Scolding locks acquired a Buffalo, N. Y. firm.

Construction of a four-room addition to the nuns' residence next to Xavier High school also was started when a permit was issued to Lauer Brothers Construction Co. Estimated cost of the project is $13,000.

Student March On UW Campus Just for Fun

MADISON (AP) — An estimated 400 University of Wisconsin students marched across the campus and down Madison streets Monday night, but without the political markings that color some collegiate demonstrations.

The students, led by a trumpet player, toured dormitory lawns in what they described as simply a Halloween rally.

Officials said the 90-minute adventure was touched off by about 75 women students marching toward a men's dormitory area shouting something about a party raid.

The roving assembly snarled traffic only briefly, police said, evaporated after about 300 students stood on the steps of the state's Capitol chanting, "trick or treat."

Marijuana Peddler Sent to Reformatory

Judge Denies Probation Appeal, Sets 2-Year Maximum Term for Appleton Native

Despite an attorney's plea for probation, Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller Friday afternoon sentenced Dennis Erdman, 24, charged with selling two marijuana cigarettes at a northside tavern Sept. 24, to not more than two years in the State Reformatory at Green Bay.

The sentence came after Judge Keller accepted Erdman's plea of no contest and found the former Appleton man guilty. Erdman, who was arrested Sept. 28 by Madison police, pleaded no contest, through his court-appointed attorney, on Oct. 14. Judge Keller had delayed decision on the verdict.

Erdman was charged following investigation by Appleton detectives. Detective Merlyn Brux told the court Friday that

Discombobulates Campus

Lawrence Gets New Rock

BY MARGUERITE SCHUMANN

Lawrence University students are back at their traditional rock-hauling business.

Persons unknown, but generally praised, have carted a sizable boulder to the campus, called it Rock II, and in the space of a week, given it several coats of paint.

In honor of Halloween it has turned orange, been given a stem and a grinning face and in every way seems to fill the role of the Great Pumpkin of comic strip fame.

Rock II appears to be the spiritual, if comparatively runty, descendant of The Rock, which was the focal point for student revelry from 1895 to the fall of 1963. In that year Lawrence authorities had had enough, and caused The Rock to be buried below the asphalt parking lot at the rear of Plantz Hall for Men.

The Rock, or Rock I as it must now (in the light of history) be called, was brought to the campus by dray and flatcar by the class of 1895. They found it on a geology field trip to Mosquito Hill at New London. After The Rock was carved with an appropriate inscription, the class gathered around, sang a dedicatory ode and listened to some intramural oratory. Almost immediately the hi-jinks began.

Professor Quips

One of the class wrote, "Soon after the stone was placed, we seniors were taking a written quiz under Dr. Samuel Plantz. One of the boys asked the president if he would promise us our degrees provided we passed satisfactorily. 'Oh,' said the doctor, as he shook with laughter, 'your degree is out on your stone.' Imagine our indignation when we visited the stone. Some miscreant had putted up with clay the first two chiseled letters of 'class' and had added the letters 'es.'"

For 68 years The Rock was drenched with color including the gold from the end of the rainbow: it was patterned in hearts, polka dots, flowers and Christmas motifs. Once it was wallpapered, once it served as a facsimile of Plymouth Rock. Messages painted on it were a brief chronicle of the times — ranging from pure advertising to "The mass of men lead lives of quiet desperation."

Was Headstone

For a number of years, The Rock served as headstone for the campus grave of Maxie, a campus cocker spaniel mascot who faithfully attended Lawrence for 10 years and was finally interred on the lawn of Main Hall.

But most of all, The Rock was moved, always in the dark of the moon, usually by professional wreckers. Part of the campus lore was to exaggerate the weight of The Rock — the most extravagant report was four tons. With Lawrence's Rock the adage was true — this rolling stone gathered no moss, only coats of paint.

During several periods, the rock was missing from the main campus. Once it was banished by presidential decree. Once it was rumored to be in the Fox River, another time it vacationed in a barn at Black Creek while the story went around that it had been spirited off to the St. Olaf campus. Often it languished in one of Appleton's ravines, waiting discovery by its next group of temporary owners.

Now, after a three year absence, a smaller, more manageable rock is back on the Lawrence scene. Drop your Viet Nam picket signs, collegians; there is physical work to be done!

Two Boxcars Derailed in Switch Yards

Five Cars Damaged In Switching Mishap At Appleton Junction

Two boxcars were derailed and a total of five cars damaged in a switch yard accident about 1:30 a.m. today at the Appleton Junction Yards near the Perkins Street crossing on the city's far southwest side.

The cars, being used by the Chicago and North Western Railway Co., were lifted back onto the tracks and were removed from the scene late this morning.

A Chicago and North Western official said workmen were switching cars in the yard when two cars "came free, rolled down a slight grade and side-swiped three cars at the south end of the yard."

Off Wheels

Two cars went off the tracks. One tilted off the wheels while the other, loaded with furniture, was off the tracks at a 45-degree angle.

Railroad officials said the derailment was on a spur line and was not causing any main trunk delays.

Four of the damaged cars were boxcars and the other was a tank car loaded with chemicals which a railroad official said presented no danger. He said the tank car, which was not derailed, received no "body damage." Only two of the five cars were loaded.

A 50-foot high crane owned by the Berg and Henn Co. of Appleton was moved to the scene about 6:15 a.m. today to assist in setting the two cars back on the track.

would be established at Hilbert to accommodate junior high pupils in the district.

The third plan calls for the merger of the Stockbridge and Chilton districts, with all high school pupils attending Chilton High. A junior high school would be built at Stockbridge.

Exceed Requirement

The number of subjects offered under each of the three plans would exceed the state requirement of 57. According to the information received by the State Department of Public Instruction from the four districts, the number of subjects offered at each of the high schools presently falls below the requirement. Brillion has 56; Hilbert, 48; Stockbridge, 37, and Chilton, 47.

Spokesmen for the Hilbert, Chilton and Stockbridge schools said they were interested in discussing the proposals. Brillion representatives made no comment.

Joseph Schiff, an attorney for the Stockbridge district, said the district definitely favored a reorganization so that a quality education could be offered.

a selective enrollment in parochial schools, which should also consider the education of non-Christians; public school students, who don't get any religious training; and the preschool children, a time when a child's religious attitudes are shaped.

Junior High Proposed

A junior high school, which would alleviate the crowded conditions in some of the elementary schools and would make it possible for all of them to have the first six grades, was proposed by Scholtz.

"The junior high could be constructed on the Xavier plot and the whole city could share the facilities as well as the services of the lay teachers," he said.

This would not only provide quality religious education but cut down considerably on expenses, Scholtz added.

"Indications are that more and more of the work of the Church will have to be carried on by Catholic laymen, therefore it is important these leaders get a good Catholic education," Sister St. Mel said. She added that the two ways by which Christian education can be continued are centralization and consolidation.

Centralization Needs

"For centralization, you would need a diocesan director of education to coordinate the program; a diocesan school board to establish central policies; purchasing agent; a data-processing system and a public relations board to provide a general image of quality," she said.

Consolidation of schools to cut down on the cost, especially those in smaller areas which are within a few miles of each other, is also a necessity, Sister St. Mel concluded.

The panel will again extend its views and discuss the problem with parishioners at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at St. Joseph; 7 p.m., Sunday, at St. Therese; 7 p.m., Nov. 13, at St. Pius; 7 p.m., Nov. 27, at Sacred Heart; 7:30 p.m., Dec. 1, at St. Bernadette; 7 p.m., Dec. 4, at St. Thomas More, and 7 p.m., Dec. 11, at St. Mary.

Lake Michigan Pollution

In something of a surprise addition to the stereotyped debate over federal resources versus state rights, the regional director of the federal Water Pollution Control Administration, Wallace Poston, has said a federal enforcement conference is not necessary if Wisconsin intends to enforce water quality standards of its new anti-pollution law.

While Poston cannot speak for Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, who has authority to call such a conference and has been asked to do so by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, the statement to the new state Natural Resources Board supports a Post-Crescent contention that the question of a federal conference versus state control of the anti-pollution fight for Lake Michigan and Green Bay is an over-simplification. A political argument on the over-simplified question as is taking place in the current campaign can damage the anti-pollution objective.

As Secretary Udall himself has said, the new Wisconsin law is a national leader, with New York, in setting water quality standards, providing enforcement powers, and offering financial aids to municipalities and tax concessions to industry for anti-pollution facilities. The new state anti-pollution board should be given time to put the new law in gear and attack the sources of pollution of Lake Michigan and Green Bay.

At the same time, it is obvious that geography alone means that a Wisconsin-Michigan agreement or a federal-state arrangement must be worked out eventually for the waters of Lake Michigan and the bay.

The issue is one of finding the best means for integrating the functions and enforcement powers of the new Wisconsin law with the financial resources and interstate jurisdiction of the federal government. Once the election campaign is over, the leaders of both political parties of Wisconsin, in Madison and Washington, should address themselves to building such an organizational compromise instead of continuing the argument about federal or state direction of the anti-pollution battle for Lake Michigan.

For its part, the new state National Resources Board at its meeting recently showed that it means business in putting the new act into effect. It took two important steps, first, warning 74 private and municipal parties of anti-pollution orders to report on progress or face action from the attorney general and, second, dividing the state into five regions for the anti-pollution war.

The Natural Resources Board has set the new state law into motion in a commendable manner and without loss of time. The political leadership of the state should now agree—at least once the election is over—to work out a satisfactory integration of the federal and state effort for Lake Michigan and Green Bay.

College Avenue Huge Task

When the frost is out of the ground next spring, the College Avenue business district will undergo a long-needed physical rejuvenation from top to bottom and it won't be an easy job.

City officials are using sound judgment in their plan to contract with one major contractor for the overall avenue reconstruction which will include the laying of new sanitary sewers, installation of the street's first storm sewers, paving, new sidewalks and gutters, a new lighting system and landscaping to give the shopping district a warm, esthetic appearance.

And once again we say to the merchants and property owners on the avenue that now is the time to lay plans for the renovating of your business

Teen-Agers and Elections

We can't help but smile at Indiana politicians who have had a mock general election at a high school postponed until Nov. 8 because they feel past results have been too influential on adults.

Students at North Vernon High School have predicted three upset victories since 1956 in the mock balloting — and all have occurred as foreshadowed by the voting. Both Democrats and Republicans have objected to the practice, and so high school officials have decided to delay voting until general election day.

The politicians responsible for this move could use a bit more faith in the competency of their electorate to decide elections by issues and candidates involved and not because teen-agers voted one way or another. The move smacks of superstition and incredulity.

But the party leaders were right in a establishments so the work can tie in with the overall street reconstruction. It's a challenge the community is confident you will meet.

In the meantime, the city's public utilities have been participating in meetings of the Municipal Construction Coordinating Committee and are mapping plans and ordering the necessary materials to replace obsolete underground facilities.

There is no doubt when recognizing the magnitude of the project to be undertaken that it will take patience and understanding, along with wholehearted cooperation on the part of all concerned.

While there will be inconvenience, merchants should go all-out in promoting the fact that there will be business as usual.

New Cooper Shop, Other Changes

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Post for Oct. 18, 1866.

Among the almost countless new buildings, we notice the cooper shop of the brothers Charles and William Shark (or Stark), opposite the Baptist Church on Oneida Street.

These are evidently active, wide-awake young Germans, and will drive a strong team. Such are just the undertakings we need to multiply for growth in population, business and resources. The greater the variety, the better for all.

In Mr. Smith's building it is not yet decided what use the first and second floors will be put to. The third is engaged by the Appleton Post for printing room and office, and for a room to be devoted to the Association and reading rooms.

Mr. Rose's building on College Avenue, just on the dividing line between Lawesburgh and not-Lawesburgh, is now rapidly being finished off and ready for use.

Like several other structures going up in town, it is of wood cased up with brick. The front is of Clifton brick and the sides and rear of brick from the Neenah kilns.

If You Want Colored Oleo Vote for Lucey

Editor Post-Crescent:
Three cheers for colored oleo! I'm sure at some time or other most of us have gone across the state line or had someone bring us and our neighbors and relatives some colored oleo. Many doctors recommend oleo for their patients or health reasons.

We have many substitutes on the market for other dairy products as Pream, Lucky Whip, dri milk, instant milk, etc. I don't think the farmers should resent one more and that's colored oleo in Wisconsin.

Other officers were Barbara Bunnow, vice president; Virginia Wenzel, secretary, and Dennis Dresang, treasurer.

Co-editors that year of the Neenah High School annual, The Rocket, were Glenace Schaefer and Judith Thorson.

Philip H. Beatty was elected president of the Menasha Kiwanis Club, succeeding Arnold Cane. Other new officers were Alan Macgregor, vice president; John Bachhuber, secretary; Harry Kosloske, treasurer; William Platt, George Williams, Carl Stevin and George Stine, directors.

Jim Ayres and Bob Bircher, member of St. Therese Church Boy Scout Troop 5, became Star Scouts at a troop court of honor. Tom Hollenback, member of the troop committee, presented the boys with this highest honor in scouting.

There was an article in the paper last week about all the soybeans being raised in Wisconsin, the main purpose being soybeans oil for oleo. So the farmers benefit by the by-products.

A friend of mine moved into Wisconsin a few weeks back and was out shopping and thought what funny stores, no colored oleo. When I explained she couldn't believe Wisconsin was the only state without colored oleo. We have other dairy states in the nation and they are surviving. So let's get out on November 8 and vote

Lucey Outlines His Differences With Knowles on Water Pollution

Editor, Post-Crescent:
Your editorial of October 16 concerning water pollution has come to my attention. Let me set the record straight on the serious differences between

Gov. Knowles and myself on the handling of our state's pollution problems.

First, Warren Knowles proposed an anti-pollution bill which was so weak that it was supported by those who pollute our waters. I recommended a tougher bill and a number of my proposed amendments were adopted by the legislature.

Second, Gov. Knowles appointed John Potter, an attorney for an industry which pollutes state waters, to head up the new water board. I have stated that I would not reappoint Mr. Potter because of his conflict of interest between his legal clients and his public duties.

Third, the Knowles administration appointed an administrator for the water board who has no experience in the area of water pollution and who is not from Wisconsin. It seems to me that our fight against water pollution will be delayed for many months, and perhaps for over a year, while this appointee learns the Wisconsin situation and the technical aspect of the pollution problem.

Fourth, Gov. Knowles has refused to follow the recommendation of Sen. Gaylord Nelson, one of America's leading conservation experts, that Wisconsin call a federal-state enforcement conference to clean up our interstate waters, such as Lake Michigan, Lake Superior and the Mississippi River. I support Senator Nelson's program.

When the people elect a governor on November 8 they will be able to choose between the weak record that Warren Knowles has made on pollution and the strong program that I am offering. I hope that the people will not permit Warren Knowles to continue his stalling and half-hearted programs in the area of water pollution.

No Dollar Value Put On Rescue

Editor, Post-Crescent:

The result of the Public Safety Committee meeting November 3rd, will be read with interest. We would like to know why the Fire Department rescue squad is a threat to our two ambulance services? I doubt very much that the squad is called because its free. This isn't common knowledge.

People don't put a dollar and cents value on their loved one's lives. All they want is competent help, as fast as possible. Throughout this past year, I have heard comments by persons who were helped, or by their families.

Always they said, "They got here so fast," also, "They are so competent, dedicated, thorough and very, very kind."

Donations Sought for Family of John Perrault

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I would like to take this opportunity to talk to all of you and your families in reference to the tragic death of John Perrault, 18 year old senior from Shawano High School. John died as a result of an injury he received while playing football, a game most of us in the Fox River Valley love to play and watch.

This young boy comes from a large family in Shawano, he had 13 brothers and sisters. His medical and burial expenses are more than his family can meet. The people in the Shawano Area have sent in collections to help, but as of today, October 25, they are still $1,000 short to cover expenses.

I think it would be a wonderful thing if every member of all the schools in the Fox River Valley would send in a small donation. This family would be ever grateful to every one of us. I'm sure if it happened to any one of us, we would willingly appreciate any help our family received.

I will start it off by sending in my donation for myself and my brother Bill, to the Shawano National Bank, Shawano, Wisconsin. Lets all join the same team for this once and score the biggest touchdown ever made in memory of John Perrault.

Wisconsin Report

Conservation Group's Campaign Against Reorganization Scored

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The time may have come for a friendly voice to suggest to the anxious members of the Wisconsin Conservation Commission that their interminable complaints at monthly business sessions about reorganization and consolidation of the state's conservation agencies are becoming tedious.

Wyngaard

Although some of the commission members at least, representing as they do the regime of Gov. Warren P. Knowles, must know better, the commission as a group for the last three months has maintained a barrage of protest indicating its conviction that there is underway a conspiracy to undermine the effectiveness and the integrity of the Wisconsin conservation program.

The cause of all this commotion is a measure drafted in the most preliminary and tentative form, upon the mandate of an act of the 1965 Legislature, which envisions the joining of all of the state's services related to natural resources management and protection into a Department of Natural Resources. The commission would have its allies believe that there was something sneaky about the proposal. The act of the 1965 Legislature, in the form of an amendment of the original pollution control bill, was not generally publicized or noticed, the commissioners complain.

Aside from other considerations, that is a curious kind of grievance for an agency that keeps one of its intelligence officers on the sidelines of the legislature full-time to assure its complete understanding not only of legislative acts, but legislative intentions and probabilities.

WHAT IS GOING ON

The legislature has in fact established a Temporary Commission on Governmental Reorganization. That commission could scarcely do less, in view of the explicit mandate about a Department of Natural Resources, than give that goal high priority. It has done so.

But the proposal so angrily denounced by the commission is not yet a "bill." It is the merest working draft of a proposition which even now is being reviewed by a working subcommittee headed by Sen. Robert Warren of Green Bay, that was submitted to the Conservation Commission among other official agencies involved. It will be revised and changed a dozen times before it is voted on in final form — if it is — and will be submitted to extensive public hearings in the firm tradition of legislative procedure.

The commission appears to believe that there are darkly political and selfish motives among legislators working on reorganization. It declares its belief that the structure it now represents is the best of all possible means for managing a conservation program. It shouts its distrust of a commission under the control of the governor, although four of the men now on the commission owe their seats to the incumbent governor who is one of the sponsors of the reorganization idea. But upon analysis, the commission doesn't object to a consolidation of conservation program management. It objects only to the idea that somebody else should run the merged company.

THE RESULT?

This reporter has no illusions about the difficulties in the path of significant action for a more efficient state capital organization — which the hostility of this group of men so aptly suggests. If there is any progress in pulling together the natural resource-related services, it will be based upon a form of policy direction similar to that now represented by the conservation commission, in all likelihood.

But these men are overlooking the fact that their commission, and all other bureaus, boards, commissions and departments, are creatures of the legislature and responsible to it. They may not concede it, they may not even be aware of it, but they are giving the appearance of being more interested in their own seats and their own prestige, than in the stated goals of efficient reorganization which is the pledge of both political parties of Wisconsin in this campaign year. They are also giving the appearance of being over-eager as they send aloft their lamentations long before the proposition is prepared and hearings are scheduled.

LSD Isn't Necessary To Really Enjoy Life

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

One of the men at lunch today wrote this column, without knowing it. I merely transcribe, as faithfully as I can recall it, what he said to us:

"As you know, I just got out of the hospital after six months, following an auto crashup. About 180 days, starting at the same blank walls. After that long, even a pleasant hospital room seems like a prison to you.

"I imagine it is the same way a prisoner feels when he finally gets out after a long stretch. And I thought to myself that all of us — all adults, at least — are the prisoners of the familiar and the habitual. We take so for granted the whole of the sensory universe that we have to invent new excitements and experiences, like drugs, to reawaken our jaded systems.

"And I realized, too, that in a few days or weeks, I might easily revert to my previous self, and lose that sense of freshness and wonder I had recaptured. I resolved that if at all possible I would try to keep the hospital — that friendly prison — in my mind's eye, so that I could remain grateful for the color and variety of the outside world.

"To use drugs to 'heighten consciousness' is an insult to the created world. I don't say it's morally wrong — but it's intellectually and spiritually a sign of weakness and flabbiness. For who among us at this table really experiences the delights of the normal world with even a half, or even a quarter, of the capacity he started life with?"

He made an unannounced, ad libbing campaign trip through Waupaca County last week. His methods of campaigning tell the observer he is tired of the campaign, as happens to all campaigners in all campaigns.

He is not the epitome of efficiency in that he seeks to meet the maximum amount of voters in the minimum amount of time.

At a Waupaca cheese plant and again at a large Clintonville factory, he was efficient, waiting at the plant gates for the work shifts to change or walking from person to person within the plant. But at other times, he might spend half an hour talking with a man on the street whom he had never met and who no doubt would vote for the other man anyway.

Hour At Station

He was content to spend almost an hour at a Waupaca radio station, most of it in idle talk with the receptionist or with the news editor after the eight-minute interview had been conducted.

While at the factory, he would expeditiously say to a worker, "Norm Myhra, candidate for Congress. Appreciate your support."

But if he found someone who was willing to spend several minutes in talk on farm problems or factory wages or the Vietnamese war, he would gladly allocate the time.

His style might seem somewhat peculiar, but it fits in with his apparent philosophy of his planned role in the Federal government, just as it has fit in with his past and present roles in the Wisconsin Assembly. Rather than propose specific solutions to problems, he asks people if they are happy and, if not, why not. He is content to tell them he will work to solve their problems after he gets to Washington, usually without mention of specific programs.

Not An Expert

Myhra doesn't pretend to be an expert on all national issues. His stock answer to questions on the national economy or water pollution is an attitude of "I'll study the situation when I get to Washington."

His methods have worked in the past, as during his six-year tenure in the state law-making body he has acquired considerably influence. His only previous public office was an appointive one as assessor for the Village of Rosholt in 1953.

After his Assembly election in 1960, he became involved in several committees. He is chairman of the veterans and foreign affairs committee and a member of the agriculture committee, state affairs committee and the Legislative Council labor committee. He also has served a term on the Legislative Council's water resource committee.

Disabled Veteran

The 41-year-old Myhra is a disabled American veteran. He lost both his hands in Army combat during World War II. He was only 19 years old at the time.

His "hands" today are mechanical apparatuses, but whether he is handing out campaign leaflets, eating a bowl of soup or shaking hands with a voter, he loses very little efficiency.

Many of the voters he meets during his campaign don't expect him to win.

A factory worker at Clintonville looked at a leaflet and, possibly without knowing who the candidate was, said, "Democrat, eh? You think you're going to get anywhere this time?"

"I don't know," replied the candidate. "We've done pretty well on the national level." Another time he might give an answer to the effect that "Miracles have happened before."

Unknown to Voters

He admits his campaign efforts are hindered, not so much by the fact that he is a Democrat in a district that normally goes GOP, as the fact that — except for in his Assembly district — he is unknown to many voters. Even worse, his opponent is far from unknown.

"I don't always know what I'm going to do when I visit places," he said. "Sometimes the people don't cooperate."

When he finds people who cooperate, he enjoys talking with them. He took particular delight in chatting with Clintonville workers who addressed him as "Norm" before he had an opportunity to introduce himself. They were from his own Portage County and many no doubt planned on supporting him Nov. 8. One worker who had just gotten off work, noticing the handicapped candidate was having difficulty supplying 700 exciting factory workers with leaflets, pitched in by grabbing a handful and helping distribute them.

Feels No Pressure

His plans for the rest of the day included other stops, notably

Seminary League Officers Named

Joseph Schmidt, Hollandtown, was named president of the Outagamie chapter of the Sacred Heart Seminary League at a meeting at Sacred Heart School hall, Appleton, last week.

Other officers named were Mrs. George Burton, vice president, Kaukauna; Leland Laux, secretary, Appleton, and Mrs. Henry Wieland, treasurer, Kaukauna. Named 3-year board members were Mrs. Ray Zuelger, Darboy, and Willard Bourassa, Appleton. Named 2-year board members were Robert Valentyn, Kimberly; Ray Geenen, Hollandtown, and Mrs. Merritt Kavanaugh, Kaukauna, and 1-year director John Stoeger, Appleton.

Plans were made for fund raising projects at various parishes in the chapter, proceeds of which will be used to purchase a new basketball scoreboard for the seminary.

Informed the starting wage was around $1.80 per hour, the candidate immediately found several other questions to ask. It was time consuming, but it was his way of campaigning.

Phone Firm no Longer Impetus for Traveling

Appleton's Joseph E. McCabe limits most of his traveling now to weekend trips to Lakewood, Wis., where he has a cottage. "I but there was a time when he traveled men in the state as an Appleton, the Kraft Cheese Co. employee of the Wisconsin Telephone Co."

McCabe, a service foreman in the firm's Appleton office since 1945, spends as much time as possible at his 22-acre site on Lake John, where he has a cottage. He retired recently after more than 44 years with the Wisconsin Telephone Co.

McCabe

"Back in the 1920s and 30s, I worked in just about every exchange around the state, including most of those in Milwaukee," McCabe recalled. "We had a force of about 200 men who built the offices and expanded them to meet growing needs."

McCabe, of 2625 Highway Drive, began his career in 1921 with the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. in Minneapolis and St. Paul. After five years as a switchboard man, he joined the Wisconsin Telephone Co. starting in Milwaukee as an equipment installer. In two years he had advanced to foreman.

He was transferred to Appleton, where he was central office inspector for one year before being named district equipment foreman. During World War II, he was installation foreman and central office inspector.

Instructed Employees

Before becoming service foreman in the Appleton office, he helped instruct telephone company employees who had just returned from the war.

As service foreman, McCabe supervised the installation and maintenance of equipment in Waupaca, New London, Antigo, Clintonville, Hortonville, Appleton, Kaukauna and Little Chute.

McCabe is proud of his safety record. "In all my years as a supervisor, none of my people lost any time because of an accident," he said.

McCabe has given up bowling and golf, but still goes deer hunting and fishes. He is a member of the Moose and the Holy Name Society of St. Pius Catholic Church.

McCabe also belongs to the Telephone Pioneers of America, a social-service organization for telephone workers with 21 years or more service.

5,200 Members Participate Little Introduction Needed for Appleton Family YMCA Services

An introduction to the new Appleton Family YMCA is hardly needed for the people in this area who have watched the old building razed and have seen the dynamic modern structure completed.

More than 5,200 members participate in the programs, all of which place emphasis on family-oriented participation. Completed in April, already more than 700 men, women, teen-agers, and toddlers pass through its white arches daily to participate in activities that range from quiet bridge sessions to active gym sports and swimming.

The two swim pools highlight the YMCA. Open swims as well as instructions for all ages have been arranged. The Olympic-size swim pool can be viewed through a glass wall on the main floor. Standing next to it is a 20 by 40-foot instruction pool providing warmer and shallow water which can also be used for therapeutic purposes, thus serving the community.

Other facilities include health clubs, craft woodworking and photo shops, individual and small-group exercise rooms, handball courts and spectator areas.

One of the most popular places is the den for teenagers. Here a snack counter capable of supplying 600 hamburgers, or

Read Medicare Handbook Soon, Director Advises

"Don't wait until you get sick. Take time now to read 'Your Medicare Handbook,'" Frank M. Donnick, manager of the Social Security office in Appleton, advises all Medicare beneficiaries.

Donnick explained that the handbook tells how two health insurance programs work, what services are covered and how payments will be made. It also contains a copy of the form to be used in requesting payment of doctor's bills under the medical insurance program.

The handbook includes a listing of all insurance organizations that will be handling medical insurance claims, so beneficiaries can see where claims for payment of doctor bills, home health services, and other services included in the supplementary plan, should be sent.

The handbook is designed as a ready source of information and guidance for each person covered by medicare. Along with the red, white, and blue health insurance identification cards, it is the key to medicare protection, Donnick said.

Anyone having questions about rights under medicare should get in touch with the Social Security office at 401 S. Elm St., Donnick added.

of 'is most popular practices is to have two aides accompany him with a Polaroid camera, taking pictures of the congressman shaking hands with anyone who would like to have the photograph for his wallet, or to display in his grocery store, or to show his friends — who also are voters.

As he drove out of New London on the way to Manawa, he noticed a sign on a restaurant marquee which read "We Like Mel Laird." Without giving it a second thought, he stopped, had his picture taken under the sign, went into the establishment and presented the proprietor with as beautiful — and lasting — a piece of advertising as is available.

Campaign Workers

Omnipresent were the campaign workers, who went from car to car, from store to store and from person to person distributing Laird bumper stickers, Laird posters and Laird stick pins.

Laird doesn't need to present a program to voters. As a highly successful incumbent, he can validly stand on his record. Most people whom he meets during the campaign recognized him instantly. If they don't, he introduces himself, that they are actually shaking hands with "Mel Laird, your man in Washington."

"I knew you looked familiar," said a clerk in a New London grocery store.

"It probably was the bald head," said the congressman, who really isn't that bald.

Legal Problems

"No, it was your smile," the woman rejoined. The smiling man said he would have to remember that and hurriedly left the store to seek more voters.

Once on the tour of the county, Laird met a man who had legal problems and wanted assistance. Although the congressman was not within earshot of anyone except those on his tour, he took five minutes to discuss the problem and a solution.

Laird has staff which handles his affairs, yet he remains in close touch with everything. "He always has several things on his mind," said a campaign worker, "and no matter how busy he appears, he always hears what you say."

The man himself is understandably proud of campaign efforts being made on his behalf. He goes into detail on how Rick Reichardt of Stevens Point, a major league baseball star, is conducting a television interview series to promote his re-election.

Laird in Demand

As a nationally recognized figure, Laird is in demand to aid the campaigns of colleagues. Of particular interest to him is the race in the state's 6th district, where the Republican challenger maintains a narrow lead in the polls over the Democratic incumbent.

He will discuss the situation in that district, explain his reasons for believing the GOP backlash will aid the incumbent. He still thinks the GOP candidate will win.

Laird believes in polls and can quote results of several on national, regional or local levels. Off the top of his head, but no doubt rehearsed, he rattled off a bunch of figures which represented, he said, The Post-Crescent's circulation in the 7th district, county by county.

Never Forgets

He never forgets. He made a five-minute stop at Readfield, a community with only a few buildings, because "I can't go through here without stopping to see Mrs. —. She collected 200 signatures on my nomination petition." With him into the general store went the two aides

To Your Good Health Chloasma Explained to Woman With Problem

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about chloasma. I am 34 and my face looks just terrible. What can be done? Will the dark spots ever fade? — Mrs. J.A.P.

I'll try to answer, but I'd better approach this question gingerly. Obviously, Mrs. P., you have had problem diagnosed because you use the term chloasma, which isn't much known to the general public.

It is a condition of discolored-brownish, yellowish or blackish — skin. Instead of being evenly spread, the skin pigments gather unevenly, making darker patches. Chloasma is the opposite of a condition called vitiligo, which results in light or colorless patches of skin.

Neither is dangerous, nor does any harm other than to appearance, but that is mighty important to the patient.

Unhappily, we don't know the cause of either condition and our treatment is limited. We can do a little, but not much.

I hope to avoid alarming many thousands of older folks who notice brown spots on face, hands, chest or wherever, and write me about the problem. By definition, these spots are chloasma, because the pigments or coloring matter in the skin clots together into a spot. The spots are much like freckles, but more permanent; they are as and the camera, giving an elderly member of the party faithful something she wouldn't soon forget.

Traveling between Readfield and New London, the congressman was eager to explain his stands on national issues. The President should establish a "Kennedy quarantine" on North Viet Nam; the U.S. should depend more on air and sea power and less on manpower in its conduct of the war; Russian anti-aircraft sites in Viet Nam should be knocked out; and so on. He is very specific on all the issues.

After making the rounds in New London and downing a quick hamburger, two glasses of milk and a slice of apple pie for lunch, Laird headed for Manawa, beating the caravan there by several minutes. A press photographer traveling with the congressman wanted to pose the boy in a barber shop. He complied.

The first comeuppance for Laird followed, however, when a boy of about 10 was forced to choose between shaking hands with "Mel Laird, your man in star," and heading into a candy store. Being unable to care less about politics, he chose the latter.

The congressman followed him into the store and found the boy's attention focused on a bag of o. o. o. corn.

Laird said to the boy, "I want you to let this war with the Polaroid take our picture together." The paying customer had to wait his turn before getting the man's attention.

'Last Hurrah' In Michigan Senate Battle

G. Mennen Williams Finding It Difficult in Political Comeback

BY ROWLAND EVANS AND ROBERT NOVAK

DETROIT — Perhaps the strangest fact of life in national politics today is that G. Mennen (Soapy) Williams, Mr. Democrat of Michigan for 18 years, is running no better than even for Novak Evans the U.S. Senate and may be trailing a little.

Williams, founder of the modern Michigan Democratic Party and six times governor (1949-1961), a few months ago was considered a sure winner in his comeback attempt against Republican Robert Griffin. Appointed by Gov. George Romney to a senate vacancy earlier this year, Griffin began with his own polls showing that only one of four Michigan voters had even heard of him. Now, Griffin is considered a slight favorite.

If Williams loses, the ramifications will be wide. The coattail effect of Romney (a sure winner for a third term as governor) will be demonstrated. Fading national political influence of Michigan-based Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers and Williams' political patron, will drop another notch.

er notch. Control of the once monolithic Michigan Democratic Party will be the object of bitter struggles.

But whether Williams wins or loses, the senate campaign here has had a poignant last hurrah quality. It really is the story of how quickly a party and a candidate can decline.

Williams, who helped revolutionize national campaigning techniques two decades ago with tireless handshaking tours, still works an 18-hour day of personal campaigning. But the tall, handsome boy wonder of 1948 is a weary-looking (haggard after a serious kidney operation) veteran of 1966.

Williams Not Good on TV Moreover, what was revolutionary in 1948 is outmoded in the television age and Williams' nasal drawl and habit of speaking out of the corner of his mouth simply do not make for good television.

Besides style, there is content trouble. Zolton Ferency, the sharp-tongued Democratic candidate for governor, has been telling newsmen privately: "The only new thing to come out of Mennen Williams in the last 20 years is six kidneystones." While angry at Ferency's indiscretions, Williams' own supporters agree that his speeches seem dated.

But the party as well as the candidate has declined, in energy and imagination. Registration in vital Wayne County (Detroit), the Democratic stronghold, is down. During Williams' recent tour of the Upper Peninsula, the party turned out embarrassingly tiny crowds.

Indeed, Michigan's Democratic Party is not the party that Williams left in 1961 when he went to Washington as an assistant secretary of state. The brilliant Neal Staehle, former state chairman and Williams' closest adviser, has been shuffled offstage. In his place, leadership is in the hands of a tight little circle of labor leaders headed by state AFL-CIO President Gus Scholle.

Democrats Blandly Confident Under Scholle, Michigan's Democrats failed to understand Romney's popularity with the working man. Similarly, they are blandly confident that the working man could not possibly vote against Soapy Williams. From this comes a self-defeating blend of complacency and apathy.

For instance, Scholle was confident that sponsorship of the Landrum-Griffin labor reform act during his 10 years in the House would doom Griffin in unionized Michigan. Instead, it has helped him. Williams started the campaign by attacking the Landrum-Griffin act (unwisely in view of some of his supporters) but now says he would have voted for it had he been a senator.

Griffin, a naturally reserved young man, has taken lessons from the buoyant Romney. Shedding his suit jacket for handshaking in the Romney style, he is a better candidate than anyone would have dreamed. He actually outpaces Williams in the matter of television performance.

Only among the Negroes is Williams as strong as ever, showing 90 per cent in polls of Negro wards. But the independent vote that made him governor has switched in part to Griffin. Even more significant are defections via the white backlash in Polish neighborhoods.

So, Williams' strategists counted heavily on Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's visit here last Saturday, (Oct. 29), to gain back ground in the Polish community where Williams was once worshipped as a demi-god. That he desperately needs outside help where he once was strongest typified the melancholia of what could be Soapy Williams' last hurrah. (Copyright, 1966)

Take Steps Now to Note Items That Will Help Cut Income Taxes

BY SYLVIA PORTER

(In collaboration with the Research Institute of America)

You have exactly 61 days in which to make moves to keep your tax bills for both 1966 and 1967 to the legal minimum. You cannot delay these moves until you fill out your 1966 return next year, for it will be too late then. In this series of columns, therefore, I will give you the key steps you can take before the year-end to adjust your finances for maximum tax savings.

If 1967's tax rates were to be the same as 1966's, your tax saving procedure would generally be to try to control your income and deductions for both years so your top tax bracket would be the same in both, and because that would give you the lowest total tax for both years. But a reasonable possibility is that tax rates will rise by about 5 per cent next year.

Sylvia's Advice Superficially, this would suggest that even if you can keep your income in the same brackets, you should try to pull income from 1967 into 1966 to avoid paying the extra tax on the income in 1967. I advise against this, and here's why.

Suppose you are a married dentist who expects $15,000 of taxable income in 1966 and also in 1967. Your top tax rate will be 25 per cent in 1966, but with

N. Vietnamese Could Have Helped Dems

Acceptance of Peace Talk Offer Would Have Had Effect

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson returns Wednesday, puffing with delight from the reception he got on his Asian journey, but it is doubtful the 17-day trip will have much effect on next week's elections.

The story might be different if the North Vietnamese Communists had grabbed the peace proposals put together at Manila by Johnson and the leaders of six Asian and Pacific nations. But they didn't.

As usual, they ridiculed the suggestions coming from this side.

Johnson had a choice before he made this trip and some day may explain why he went to the Pacific and Asia in the midst of the 1966 election campaigns instead of staying home to help his Democrats.

Possible Thinking

He may have felt he could help them more by the Manila meeting, the big peace proposal, the grand tour and the image of a busy world leader such a trip creates.

The memory of the trip, and the day-by-day headlines would be vivid in voters' minds when he did return and, in the few remaining days before the elections, put on a whirlwind campaign, as he intends to do.

Perhaps this will help more than if he had stayed home all the while.

But, as mentioned in the beginning, this is doubtful and for a reason that appears fairly simple. This is not a very heated election year to start with and probably no one, including Johnson, could set it steaming.

There are supposed to be three main issues: the war in Viet Nam, the white backlash on every income dollar that can be shifted from the over-$25,000 year to the under-$25,000 year. This will be so even with a tax hike in 1967.

Tomorrow: How to switch income. (All Rights Reserved) and inflation. But how big are they?

The polls show majority backing for American involvement in Viet Nam. There may be some dissatisfaction that the United States isn't doing more, like bombing all over North Viet Nam, to win the war.

But this dissatisfaction is tempered by the realization that a big expansion of the war might bring Red China and eventually the Soviet Union into it and turn it into a world war.

There can hardly be a question about the white backlash, the reaction against Negro violence. But this is probably more true in some places than in others, thus making it something less than a nationwide issue.

As for inflation, with the country as prosperous as it is, the intensity of fear and resentment about rising living costs is no doubt diluted by the money people still have in their pockets.

If this view of the elections is true — that there is a lack of intensive national feeling about the war, inflation and the backlash — then there must be an explanation for that.

There is this one: that at the moment, with high employment and a lot of money floating around, the American people as a whole at this time in history are rather complacent and politically not disturbed or concerned much.

If this is true, and it seems so to this writer, then many and perhaps most of the election contests for governorships and seats in Congress boil down to local, personal contests.

When Johnson, upon his return, races into one state or district after another to help a candidate he, too, will be making his appeal more on personality than on issues.

There has been a lot of the usual hoop-la about the 1966 elections but from the standpoint of excitement, enthusiasm and ideas it looks about as flabby as any in recent memory.

Doctors Quit Smoking

CHICAGO — According to a recent survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without straining their will power thanks to a new tablet which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Less than 2% of the 150,000 people who tried this tablet reported they still smoke!

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new tablet are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 573-Y-1, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

It is sufficient to send your name and address. Just a postcard will do.

Have you been missing half the fun of our brandy?

The Christian Brothers Brandy is smooth, full-flavored, yet light. So you can enjoy it straight. But that's only half the fun of it.

It's also great in mixed drinks. In a tall glass with water or your favorite mixer. Or on the rocks. Or in a sour. Or a Manhattan. Or a Stinger.

In fact, so many people have made our brandy their all-around drink that it is the largest-selling brandy in America.

The Christian Brothers Brandy: No.1 in America.

Networks Compete for Daytime TV Ratings

'Dream Girl of '67' Newest for ABC Set For Dec. 19; Beauties to be Judged Daily

BY JINGO
The competition for supremacy in the daytime television ratings may not get the publicity that the prime time battles do, but the three networks are nonetheless enthusiastic and touchy about their program schedules.

Jingo

CBS got the jump over 10 years ago with several successful soap operas and NBC and ABC have been playing "catch-up" ever since.

ABC's latest attempt to boost its Nielsen ratings will be "Dream Girl of '67," which will replace "A Time for Us" starting Dec. 19 (1:30-1:55 p.m.).

"Dream Girl of '67," styled along the lines of the nation's top beauty pageants, will involve a nationwide search for a woman whose beauty, charm and personality establish her as the most marriageable girl in America.

Host of the new show will be Dick Stewart, a popular West Coast broadcasting personality who has served as master of ceremonies at a number of major beauty pageants in the San Francisco area.

Beauty Spectacular
Lavishly produced, "Dream Girl of '67" hopes to sustain the glamor and excitement that surrounds the country's most sumptuous beauty spectaculars.

Quite an order!
Four contestants, ranging in age from 18-27, will be judged daily by an all-male panel of bachelor celebrities on the basis of poise and personality and style consciousness. After the interview portion of the program, the judging will continue as the contestants appear on stage in fashions that might include evening gowns, cocktail dresses and beachwear.

A different female celebrity each week will add to the glamor by serving as fashion narrator.

Girl of the Week
Each daily winner will compete on Friday to become "Dream Girl of the Week." Weekly winners will return for annual, gala beauty pageant to determine "Dream Girl of '67." The series was created by the same company that gave ABC its popular "The Dating Game" and "The Newlywed Game." Those are just about the only two daily shows ABC can truthfully call hits.

Still on daytime TV, the latest Nielsen survey showed that "Art Linkletter's House Party" is the most popular daily series. It replaced "As the World Turns," long a No. 1 item.

A Fox Cities student will be among the 38 singers of the Notre Dame Glee Club, which will appear on the "Andy Williams Show" Sunday. He is Stephen Ahlgren, son of Mrs. T. C. Ahlgren, 239 John St., Neenah.

Mrs. Ahlgren teaches home economics at Appleton's Xavier High School. Steve is a junior pre-law student at Notre Dame, and this year serves the glee club as its treasurer.

Taped in Hollywood
Williams extended a special invitation to the musical group to appear on one of his programs. All 38 members flew to Hollywood in late September to tape the show. While there, they gave several informal, "clings" for film celebrities, including comedian Bob Hope. They ate at the Brown Derby, toured and visited movie studios.

They also watched comedian Jonathan Winters at work, since he is appearing on the same show. After rehearsals, they spent time talking with the comedian.

The trip was made by jet. The group was gone from school from Sept. 27 to Oct. 2.

An Elephant Doesn't Have A Chance

BY TV SCOUT
6:30-7:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — Daktari takes up the cause of a gentle elephant who is accused of injuring a native chief in an episode which provides a good chemistry lesson for tykes. There's a sinister plan to undermine the Warner game preserve. Why? To get its rich minerals.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 11-6-9) — The grim realities of war continue on Combat. If your nerves and patience are strong enough you may enjoy sweating it out with Vic Morrow as he escorts an energetic band of prisoners to a POW camp. The odds are on the enemy's side and every turn in the road is an opportunity for the captured men to escape. Ray Stricklyn is especially unnerving as a prisoner who thinks the Americans have brutally murdered his brother. Ron Soble (Indian Jim of The Monroes) also turns in a vivid performance as a tough-thinking German corporal.

6:30-7:30 (Channels 4-5) — The Girl From U.N.C.L.E. wades in a sea of science fiction hodge-podge with "The Garden of Evil Affair." It provides Stefanie Powers another opportunity to masquerade — this time as a Persian flower. Arnold Moss, leader of a weird cult, wants to take over her brain to fill it with a serum so she can be evil like one of her long-dead relatives.

7:30-8 (Channels 11-6-9) — It's hard to think of Jim Ed Love patting tykes on the head and buying them banana splits or forgiving Old Folger for kicking down his fence on "The Rounders." But in this better-than-average episode, he is out to win Texas' Man of the Year contest — hoping it will mean an increase in price for his beef. So he is doing everything to stay on the sweet side of everybody.

7:30-8:30 (Channels 2-7-12) — The Red Skelton Hour seems in better form with guest Frank Gorshin. If you aren't weary of Freddie the Freeloader sketches, you might enjoy tonight's. Gorshin plays Nasty McMean at a hobo convention. Tuneful musical selections are by the Baja Marimba Band: "The Portuguese Washerwoman," "Comin' in the Back Door" and "Juarez." Silent Spot has Red patomiming an old man who has trouble finding peace and quiet at a camp site.

Ending is of the cute type as the plan begins to backfire and Stan discovers he must also cope with a pregnant rabbit.

8-9 (Channels 4-5) — "40 Pounds of Trouble" is heavy with an overworked comedy situation on Tuesday Night at the Movies. Tony Curtis plays one of those soft-hearted sharpies, a small spender who operates a Nevada gambling casino. His biggest fear is California — home of his ex-wife who wants her alimony checks. It takes Claire Wilcox, a bundle of coyness, and the romantic pushing of Suzanne Pleshette to lead him back to the Golden Bear state and Disneyland. For good reasons, Phil Silvers is agast by all this. A 1963 release.

8:30-9 (Channels 11-6-9) — The Fugitive. Richard Kimble is a bit under arrest again after he gamier than usual as Stan (Rich Little) takes over the Willis' winery workers who are caught apartment to raise a pack of in an ambush. The charge is chinchillas for profit. Humor is murder and it takes some of the broad kind as the slippery sleuthing by Kimble in landlord explodes and Julie's the vineyards of California to (Judy Carne) father (Herbert find the "true" villain. Good Voland) goes into another rage, suspense.

HEMORRHOIDS?
New formula works 5 ways for faster, longer-lasting relief!
In clinical tests of new M.P.O. — an advanced treatment for hemorrhoids (piles) — doctors reported "results were good to excellent" for 5 out of every 6 patients! M.P.O. works five ways for faster, longer-lasting relief:
1. Helps ease pain faster. You get more medically accepted pain-relieving ingredients, including Benzocaine, than in the preparation you may now be using.
2. Helps shrink swollen tissues. M.P.O. quickly releases the proven vaso-constrictor, Ephedrine Sulfate, to reduce swelling.
3. Relieves embarrassing itching. M.P.O. is homogenized for faster absorption, faster relief.
4. Gives longer relief. A more temperature-stable base holds medication in place, prolongs relief-bringing action.
5. Fights danger of infection. Proven germ-killer Hexachlorophene combats bacteria.
M.P.O. is a development of Mentholatum Laboratories. Available in stainless ointment or suppositories at all drug counters.

'Never Saw a Lazy Student'

BY LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

"How do you inspire a student to work harder?"

"How do you get a student to become interested in his work?"

"What do you do about a lazy student?"

These are three of the questions most often asked by parents and teachers and, sometimes, by the students themselves.

Taking the last question first, I don't know what to do with a lazy student—I've never seen one.

In my experience, the student who appears to be lazy usually goes about his schoolwork in an inefficient fashion, with unsatisfactory results. In consequence, he has lost interest.

It is impossible to motivate such a student through encouragement alone. Nor are rewards or threats of punishment effective.

'Study Spurt' Essential

The approach I have found successful is to help him work out programs of study that will develop interest. The first essential is a spurt of study that will build up a background in a subject and make its further study more enjoyable.

For example, Jeffrey was making a "D" in history. His explanation was, "I'm not interested in history. I know I should study but I can't seem to make myself do it."

I explained to Jeffrey that the more one knows about a subject and the better the knowledge is organized in the mind, the easier it is to think about it and to learn still more about it. To start this action in motion he must at first exert the energy to increase his knowledge of history. The easiest way was to work to learn all that he could of the history and, at the same time, get it straightened out and organized in his mind.

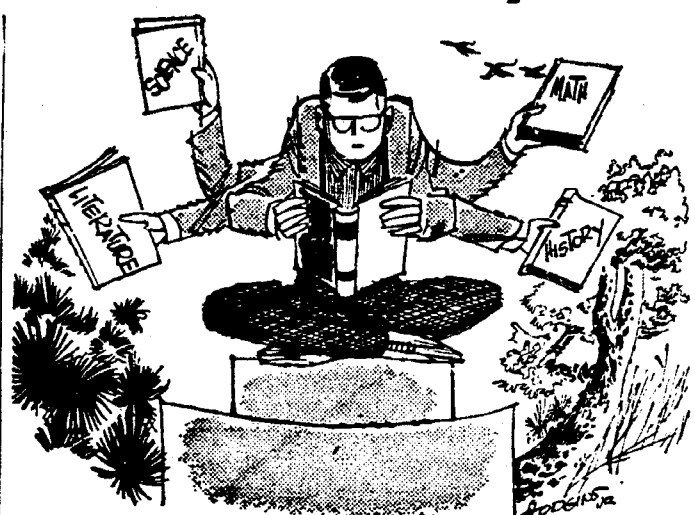

Two or three weeks hard work would make all the rest of the year not only more successful but easier.

A 5-Point Plan
Together we set up a five-point plan for Jeffrey's study of United States history.

Point One. Before studying a chapter Jeffrey was to give it a general preview from the Table of Contents and chapter headings. Knowing in advance the major events to be covered would make it possible for him to fit things together as he read—an important process.

Point Two. He was to associate each event with WHERE it happened. Geography was to be made the anatomy of history. Events were to be visualized as occurring at a specific place on a map. Since Early American history is centered about the colonies he was to practice sketching a map showing their location. With his book closed and a blank sheet of paper, Jeffrey was to draw the East coast area putting in such detail as he could remember and then, opening the book, check his map for accuracy making needed corrections and adding any missing important elements.

Then he was to draw another sketch. Each time as he added new elements he was to THINK about their location in relation to the ones he had already mastered. His aim in this exercise was to develop a mental map sufficiently detailed to be used in a memory system for early American history.

Point Three. As he read the text and as he listened in class Jeffrey was to envision each event as happening at the appropriate spot on his mental map. He was to carefully associate men, events, causes and effects to the main episodes of the period. He was to let no detail stand by itself.

Point Four. He was to use a time line to keep dates in their proper sequence. Assume that the period in question is from 1400 to 1800. He would draw a line across the page, divide it into equal parts labeling it 1400, 1500, 1600, 1700 and 1800. He was to mark on it known dates in their proper position.

For example, the date 1492 when the Moors were driven out of Spain and Columbus discovered America; 1776 and others. He should now open the book to make sure he was right regarding each of these dates and then check to see what other dates he should have known. Each new date added to the time line must be thought into place in relation to a date nearby. For example, the Boston Tea Party in 1769 is thought of as seven years prior to the signing of the Declaration of Independence. As with the map, the next time he did this practice he was to start with a new sheet of paper and repeat the process.

Point Five. To make history a living thing Jeffrey was to associate men and their ideas with events and their causes. Jeffrey was hesitant about adopting the plan saying, "This all sounds logical but I have made good resolutions in the past only to find that when the time came to sit down and study I got distracted by radio or TV programs and let the history go, thinking I might do it the next day."

Cutting Service Could Reduce Food Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national supermarket spokesman says food prices can be reduced substantially only if stores cut out services he says the public demands.

But in Portland, Ore., a leader of a housewives organization planning to picket 170 stores says it would be fine to eliminate some of those services.

Elsewhere, there was scattered evidence that the burgeoning housewife revolt against high prices was inching ahead.

Clarence G. Adams, president of the National Association of Food Chains, said Monday in Washington he sees no chance that housewife boycotts will bring lower food prices.

Could be Cut
Prices could only be cut substantially, he said, "by shortening hours, taking out bag boys, eliminating check cashing — you could go down a considerable amount, maybe 6, 7, 8 or 9 per cent."

Mrs. Veri Jensen, secretary of Portland Women for Lower Prices, said stores could cut prices 10 per cent by remaining open fewer hours, closing Sundays and cutting out games, stamps and special promotions.

Safeway Stores in Arizona announced they would drop "bonus bingo" because of housewives' pressure.

Henry J. Frank, Safeway's state manager for 39 stores, said the decision could affect prices, but he didn't say how much.

Adams claimed that chains make an average profit of 1.3 per cent and spend 2 per cent on advertising and promotion.

3 Per Cent Cut
"Passing of both profits and advertising and promotion costs back to consumers in the form of across-the-board price reductions would give shoppers a 3.3 per cent decrease in prices, or about 33 cents on a $10 purchase," he said.

"And eventually this would force the stores out of business," he added.

California Gov. Edmund G. Brown pegged the cost of the stamps and games as "at least a week's groceries a year." That would be about 2 per cent. Brown, a Democrat seeking re-election, announced he was sending the state's consumer counsel to testify before the Federal Trade Commission, which announced an investigation of food prices.

"I don't think very many families want to gamble with their food dollars," he told a news conference.

Two Republicans, however, agreed with Adams that the real cause of rising prices is inflation.

Brown's opponent, Ronald Reagan, said federal fiscal policies are to blame for inflation and added: "It is unfortunate to go to a market place and try to control this (food prices) by boycotting."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in Lancaster, Pa., that housewives should picket the White House instead of the supermarket.

Lani Bird Satellite Orbit Attempt To Be Repeated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists will try again this month to establish commercial communications via satellite over the Pacific Ocean — a job the Lani Bird satellite failed to accomplish.

Instead of settling into a hovering orbit above the mid-Pacific Gilbert Islands, the "Lani Bird" stayed in a cigar-shaped orbit ranging from 1,840 miles above the earth to about 23,000 miles.

Its communications system still works, but it is useful only for short periods when it whirls into line of sight of earth stations.

A "scientific toy," said disappointed officials.

The Communications Satellite Corp. confirmed the failure Monday.

An earlier and smaller communications satellite, the Early Bird, relays signals across the Atlantic Ocean.

$100,000 Ski Hill Among Yule Offerings

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're dreaming of a white Christmas, Santa can take care of it for you — with no snow to shovel — for $100,000.

That's the price tag on a backyard ski slope suggested this year by Neiman-Marcus, the Dallas department store with Texas-size ideas for Christmas.

The slope is 121 feet long and 25 feet wide. It has a plastic surface that skis like snow, but there is nothing to shovel.

The ski slope is only one gift idea from the millions of Christmas catalogs now in the mails.

Sears, Roebuck & Co. sent out 12 million catalogs and Montgomery Ward & Co. 6 million.

Neiman-Marcus also offers his and her bathtubs — mabletopped, gold faucets and $4,000 a pair.

Some stores are thinking little this year. Spencer Gifts has a thumb-size radio for $1.98. Hammacher Schlemmer offers a three-inch television set — $150.

For the surfer, Ward's has a sterling silver surfer's cross (proclaiming "I am a surfer") for $1.99.

Little Machines

F.A.O. Schwarz, New York's Fifth Avenue toy store offers some little machines to help you through the holidays — things like a diet computer ($25) and a detect-a-drink, complete with balloons to see if it is safe for you to drive home ($5).

Fatal Shooting Caps Destructive Atlanta Holiday

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A 10-year-old boy, running home with a sack of Halloween "trick-or-treat" goodies, was shot to death and two teen-agers are being held, police said.

Robert James Tucker was killed Monday night while he and another 10-year-old, William Thomas, were going home.

Thomas told police they heard a pistol shot and started running — "and then I heard another shot. I looked back and he was lying on the street."

Police said two youths, one 17 and the other 15, were picked up in connection with the shooting. Their identities were withheld.

Jones said the shooting apparently followed an egg-throwing incident by a group of older boys.

The shooting climaxed what police said was one of the most destructive and violent Halloween nights on record for the city. Other incidents involved bricks, rocks and eggs being hurled at automobiles and homes.

End of Measles Seen for U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Effective use of vaccine this winter and spring could wipe out common red measles from the United States in 1967, the government said today.

Dr. William H. Stewart, surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service, said 15 million children have been vaccinated since rubella measles vaccine was licensed 3½ years ago.

But several million other children remain susceptible and must be protected during coming months in order to eradicate the disease, he said.

Discrimination in Private Clubs to Be Commission Topic

MADISON (AP) — The Governor's Commission on Human Rights will consider how to discourage discrimination in private clubs and fraternal groups at an executive committee meeting Saturday.

The issue of membership policies of the Fraternal Order of Eagles civil rights demonstrations in August in Milwaukee and suburban Wauwatosa forcing Gov. Warren P. Knowles to order the National Guard to enforce peace.

The executive committee announced Monday it would consider a program to put into practice the Human Rights Commission's statement on private clubs.

It said it would also study possible use of public hearings to promote compliance with anti-discrimination laws.

Drugs Used in Draft Evasion

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Some young men in the St. Louis area have used drugs to increase their blood pressure before reporting for their selective Service physical examinations, the clerk of 10 St. Louis local draft boards says.

Marguerite Ward, the clerk, did not name the drug.

Mrs. Ward said doctors are reviewing the examination reports of all men who had been rejected because of high blood pressure.

would attempt to meet with the parties to effect an early settlement. However, no further talks were scheduled.

The union said it represents 14,000 workers at more than 60 plants.

The union said it ordered the walkout after Westinghouse failed to agree to 13 stipulations the union said were included in agreements signed last month with the firm's other major unions.

The issues, according to a union spokesman, included a union shop, geographic wage differentials, layoff benefits and full arbitration.

The union said the Westinghouse proposals were less than those made to the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions and the Independent United Electrical Workers. The company said the proposals made to the IBEW were the same.

The company estimated the wage and fringe benefit packages in those agreements at four per cent a year over three years. The unions estimated it at 50 cents an hour.

Under the old contract production workers averaged $3 an hour.

Award Contract For Air-Ground Guided Missile

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has awarded a $235.8-million development and production contract for an air-to-ground guided missile designed to be carried within 50 miles of enemy defenses.

It's a shorter-range relative to the Skybolt missile, on which the government spent more than $500 million before Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara scrapped the project.

He doubted whether Skybolt could be accurate over its planned 1,000-mile route.

The contract, including $93.5 million for production of an unspecified number of missiles, was awarded to Boeing Co. of the area but the Viet Cong gunmen apparently escaped.

U. S. headquarters announced that three Viet Cong were captured near the parade grounds on Kennedy Square. A spokesman said they were armed with grenades and small arms. A Vietnamese spokesman said four more Viet Cong, armed with grenades and weapons, were seized in the vicinity of the parade route.

The U. S. psychological warfare section set to work immediately to prepare leaflets to be dropped from the air over both North and South Viet Nam. A spokesman said the leaflets would decry the "murder of the innocents" and point out "the desperation of the Viet Cong in seeking to revive its flagging prestige."

Photograph of Victim
He said printing of the leaflets would start Wednesday and would carry a photograph of a woman killed in the central square by the shelling.

Fearing more terrorist incidents, U. S. authorities put the capital off limits to American servicemen.

Little other action was reported in the war. U. S. B52s kept pressure on an enemy position in the central highlands Monday, raiding it for the third day in a row, but bad weather limited air strikes over the Communist north again and American pilots got in only 59 missions.

U. S. pilots flew 449 sorties over South Viet Nam Monday and Vietnamese pilots flew 60.

Howitzer Used
Vietnamese police sources said the shelling into the capital came from 75mm recoilless rifles and 60mm mortars, but other military men said they were sure a light howitzer also was used.

The shells struck only 50 yards behind a reviewing stand for Vietnamese, U. S. and other foreign dignitaries. Had they come 90 minutes later, they would have exploded when U. S. Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U. S. forces in Seattle, Wash. The other $142.3 million is for development.

Skybolt was supposed to blow holes in enemy defense lines to create penetration corridors for nuclear bombers.

Viet Nam, and Vietnamese government chiefs were on the stand.

Elsewhere, the 63,000-ton U. S. aircraft carrier Coral Sea took up her battle station in the Gulf of Tonkin to launch air strikes against the Communist north. The Coral Sea replaced the carrier Oriskany, which was crippled by fire last Wednesday and went to the Philippines for repairs.

by truck so the President could see a cross section of American forces in Korea. Normally Camp Stanley houses only 900 engineering troops.

Johnson hopped out of his Jeep during the drive to the camp messhall and walked along with hands outstretched as enlisted men crowded around him.

Looking confident and refreshed, the President ate turkey, mashed potatoes, succotash and ice cream with 200 selected American and Korean troops in the mess hall and told them American forces have helped stem the tide of communism in Asia.

After his visit to the troops, Johnson helicoptered down to Suwon, 30 miles south of Seoul, for a final countryside stop before returning to the capital.

Police estimated more than 20,000 gathered outside Suwon at a low hill named L.B. Johnson Hill in his honor.

While Johnson was out in the country, Mrs. Johnson presented the city of Seoul with a seedling from the White House grounds, visited gardens and art works and received a citation from Ewha University, whose 8,000 students make it the largest women's university in the world.

$33,000,000 in Tax Savings Worth Fight

PATRICK LUCEY, one of Wisconsin's leading business figures and now the Democratic choice for governor, stated that "a top group of business experts recently pointed the way to save more than $33 million in state gov-

Marriage Promises Exchanged

KAUKAUNA — Holy Cross Catholic Church was the setting for the 2 p.m. Saturday marriage of Miss Shirley Ann Heindel and Joseph Mathew De Brue. The Rev. Justin Werner officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Heindel, 614 Kaukauna St., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur De Brue, 800 Blackwell St.

Miss Nancy Heindel was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Heindel, Miss Sue De Brue and Miss Helen Reuter.

Serving as best man was a brother of the bride, Jerrold Heindel, Ann Arbor, Mich. Also attending the bridegroom were Michael Helf, Dennis De Bruin and Roger Van Gompel. Ushering duties were shared by James Vandenberg and Nicholas Ebben Jr.

A reception was held at Legion Hall, Wrightstown. After honeymooning in Canada and New York the couple will reside at route 1, Kaukauna.

The bride is employed at Combined Paper Mills Inc., Combined Locks. Her husband is with Cloud Buick Co. Inc., Appleton.

Your Problems

'Something to Think About' Not Considered by Right People

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been sitting here looking at the newspaper and I have determined what is wrong with the world.

The Bible teaches us that the father should be the head of the house. But is he? Just look around. Every man I know is scared to death of his wife. Women run everything. They push husbands around. shamelessly. The wife makes all the decisions. The only thing a wife lets her husband do these days is pay the bills.

Then the situation gets more complicated. Both parents are afraid of their children. If you take a good look at the teenagers today you will see that nobody has the nerve to open up a mouth and tell them how to dress, how to act, how to wear their hair or even when to wash.

I've seen 15-year-old punks smoking cigars. I have two nieces aged 13 and 14 and they both look like tramps. If I can see it why can't their parents?

I wish you would print this letter and give your millions of readers something to think about. —Square And Proud A

Dear Proud Square: It's unfair to generalize about wives, husbands, teen-agers or anything else. I know some women who do not run their husbands and I know many teenagers who are bright, respectful, hardworking and highly principled.

I agree that too many marriages are in pathetic shape, and for just the reasons you mention. I agree, too, that some of our teen-agers could use firmer discipline. Nonetheless, I thank you for giving my readers something to think about. The trouble is, the ones who ought to think about it won't.

The following letter is not offered in rebuttal, but rather as another point of view.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am wife do when her husband simply cannot make a decision? Somebody in the family must get things done if things are going to get done. In our family I'm the one who must do it. My husband is a lethargic, indecisive guy who drifts along from day to day. If a bill doesn't get paid, he could care less.

The house has been falling apart for two years and he hasn't even noticed. Although he is a carpenter by trade he has yet to pick up a hammer around here. I have to hire a man to make all the repairs or make them myself.

The only thing my husband does on his own—with no prodding—is drink. He is gassed every weekend.

I hope you will print my letter because I am sure there are millions of other women who are in the same fix. —Thanks For Listening

Dear Thanks: I've always contended that people find each other for a reason. Now you know the reason he found you. Or did you find him, the doll?

Generally speaking, wives who are the movers and shakers in the family were that way before they married. And they went out and found a man who needed to be both moved and shaken.

Xavier High School's homecoming was a fairy tale success, judging by the happy ending to the Friday evening football game and the theme carried out at the Saturday evening dance.

Xavier downed Pre-montre at the game at Goodland Field. The contest was preceded by a 6 p.m. pep rally.

Queen Sue Schultz was announced and crowned during the dance. Placing the crown on her successor's head was last year's queen, Sally Kranhold.

The dance decorations were keyed to favorite old nursery rhymes and children's stories.

Among students who entertained friends at pre-dance cocktail parties were Michael Reis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isadore Reis, 126 W. First Ave., and David Vallard, son of the Geraid Vallards, 20 Foster Court.

Sue Schultz was named Xavier High School Homecoming Queen during Saturday evening's dance at the school commons. The Swinging Set

In the Teen News

BY SYLVIE REICE

THE DATING SCENE: What do teens around the country do on dates and at parties? Is there a regular pattern? Movies still seem to be the favorite date; following close is bowling, going to a ballgame and lately, heading for the local coffee-house or teen nightclub.

Parties are mostly "eat and dance." But some teens are setting trends: Pittsburgh, Pa. teens play roulette for small change at their parties. In Fresh Meadows, N.Y., the big party game is lip synchronizing (to records). In Connecticut, they play The Pat Boone Contest at games... you put on a record, have someone sing along with it, turn it down for about ten seconds, then turn it up to see if the person has kept time with it... In Wisconsin, teens have seances and experiment with ESP (extra sensory perception) at their get-togethers. The occult seems to be strong in Cleveland, O., too, where teens bring out the ouija board at their parties. Fresno, Calif. teens get out their guitars and sing, sing, sing.

THE COLLEGE SCENE: A new Theater Program opened at New York University's School of Arts. The students, who come from 31 states and six foreign countries, will be assigned full programs in acting, dance, stage design and technical production. The school is dedicated to the discovery and development of talent and doesn't require a student to enroll formally for a degree, although it does grant both graduate and undergraduate degrees. In his opening talk, Theodore Hoffman, director, said: "I understand that you have had the pleasure of standing beside Peter Ustinov in the elevator. Let us hope that some day Mr. Ustinov will have the pleasure of standing beside you."

Associate Dean Joel P. Smith of Stanford University, California, claims that the idealism which has been predominating on many campuses is "beginning to sour." His reasons: "Most activists (politically active students) find the war ultimately obnoxious. Presumably, they are all his abilihes. does not appeal to activists... Students feel they're being elbowed out of the civil rights movement by both the intervention of federal programs and the rise of "black power"...

They see America as disproportionately preoccupied with economic success... Dean Smith feels that it's the impact of these four factors which are causing much of the personal disillusionment on campus leading to drugs, sexual promiscuity and impulsive acts against the draft.

Meanwhile, back at the Bryn Mawr campus, things are going along "classically." Co-eds dress their own way — short A-skirts with mini-print tailored shirts, flat, flat shoes (loafers are out here) with cuffed solid-knee socks, a leather shoulderpouch — a fairly classic look. Elsewhere On the Fashion Scene: nailheads, big on sports-wear of all kinds, (St. Laurent started it in Paris) now will be seen on gloves of all kinds — leather or fabric. Crinkled cotton continues to be a big fabric for spring shirts and dresses. Watch for the jockey jacket for girls. And stores just can't keep the pantsuit in stock!

TEENS ABROAD: Youngsters in Communist countries yearn for anything American. That's what Paul Anka says Paul had the privilege of being the first American performer to tour both Poland and Czechoslovakia at the request of the two countries' governments. The hottest item on the youth black market, in fact, are leather patches from Levis and Wranglers which are sewn onto Czech blue jeans in the hope of making them look like the American variety.

Can an English Princess (Anne just 16) and an English Prince (Charles, 18) ever hope to dress like swinging English teens? Well, Anne (more an outdoor horsey type like her mother than a fashion plate) really doesn't have much choice: she has to select from the fashions that Hartnell, her mother's couturier, brings her, and she ends up with dressmaker suits, and matronly coats and shifts. Once in a while she can and does look like a swinger (she loves the Beatles) and wears hipster pants and Beatle caps — but only once in a while. Of course, at Benenden school it's a uniform... As for Charles, none of his uncle's (Lord Snowden) flamboyant tastes have rubbed off on him; he's a stranger to Carnaby Street, uninterested in fashion and just leaves the whole thing to his "tailors."

Home Fire Drills Prepare Children for Emergency

More than 2,000 children die every year in home fires. Yet, most of them could walk swiftly away from death if they were given the most elementary fire instructions, according to an American Medical Association publication.

A parent would be horrified to discover his child's school did not hold fire drills. But a child is 200 more times likely to be trapped in fire at home than at school.

Plan Escape Routes
Map out, with the children helping, two separate escape routes from each room — a main route and in case that is blocked an alternate. Main exits usually are doors and stairways. Alternates usually are windows. A portable ladder provides an excellent escape from upper windows. These range from an inexpensive rope ladder to those of light weight aluminum. A sturdy trellis outside a window may be ladder enough for an agile child.

The most important lifesaving command to impress upon children is: Escape immediately. Don't let them try to put out the fire or pause to gather up possessions. Minutes, even seconds, are crucial. Fires can spread unbelievably fast. And set a specific place outside to gather promptly for a quick head count.

If the window is jammed or frozen shut during a fire, children may not think of the obvious: break the window. Show them how to smash the pane with a loose shoe, and then run the shoe around the inside of the frame to clean off jagged edges before climbing out.

Smoke Is Deadly
Impress upon the children the deadliness of smoke. The majority of fire victims are asphyxiated by smoke long before the flames touch them. Warn the children against braving a smoke-filled hall, or flinging open a door and letting the smoke pour in. Wet handkerchiefs over the mouth do not filter out poisonous gases in smoke.

Once you organize your family fire drill, make a note on the kitchen calendar to repeat the drill at regular intervals. Some households feel once a month isn't too often.

Two Boxcars Derailed in Switch Yards

Five Cars Damaged In Switching Mishap At Appleton Junction

Two boxcars were derailed and a total of five cars damaged in a switch yard accident about 1:30 a.m. today at the Appleton Junction Yards near the Perkins Street crossing on the city's far southwest side.

The cars, being used by the Chicago and North Western Railway Co., were lifted back onto the tracks and were removed from the scene late this morning.

A Chicago and North Western official said workmen were switching cars in the yard when two cars "came free, rolled down a slight grade and side-swiped three cars at the south end of the yard."

Off Wheels

Two cars went off the tracks. One tilted off the wheels while the other, loaded with furniture, was off the tracks at a 45-degree angle.

Railroad officials said the derailment was on a spur line and was not causing any main trunk delays.

Four of the damaged cars were boxcars and the other was a tank car loaded with chemicals which a railroad official said presented no danger. He said the tank car, which was not derailed, received no "body damage." Only two of the five cars were loaded.

A 50-foot high crane owned by the Berg and Henn Co. of Appleton was moved to the scene about 6:15 a.m. today to assist in setting the two cars back on the track.

Appleton Girl in Serious Condition After Car Mishap

Two Appleton girls and a friend from Galva, Ill., were injured, one seriously, in an automobile accident Monday night about five miles north of Kaukauna.

The girls, all 19 years of age, were taken to a Kaukauna hospital following the mishap, which occurred on State 96 about 7:45 p.m.

They are Karen Bunnell, Appleton, the driver, who suffered internal, shoulder and arm injuries; Karen Kangas, Appleton, who suffered head and chest injuries and a broken ankle; and Sharon Ericson, Galva, who suffered head, chest and knee injuries.

Miss Bunnell was in serious condition today while the others were reported in fair condition.

Brown County police said the driver of the car lost control of the vehicle and it skidded off the road before rolling over and coming to rest on its wheels in a field.

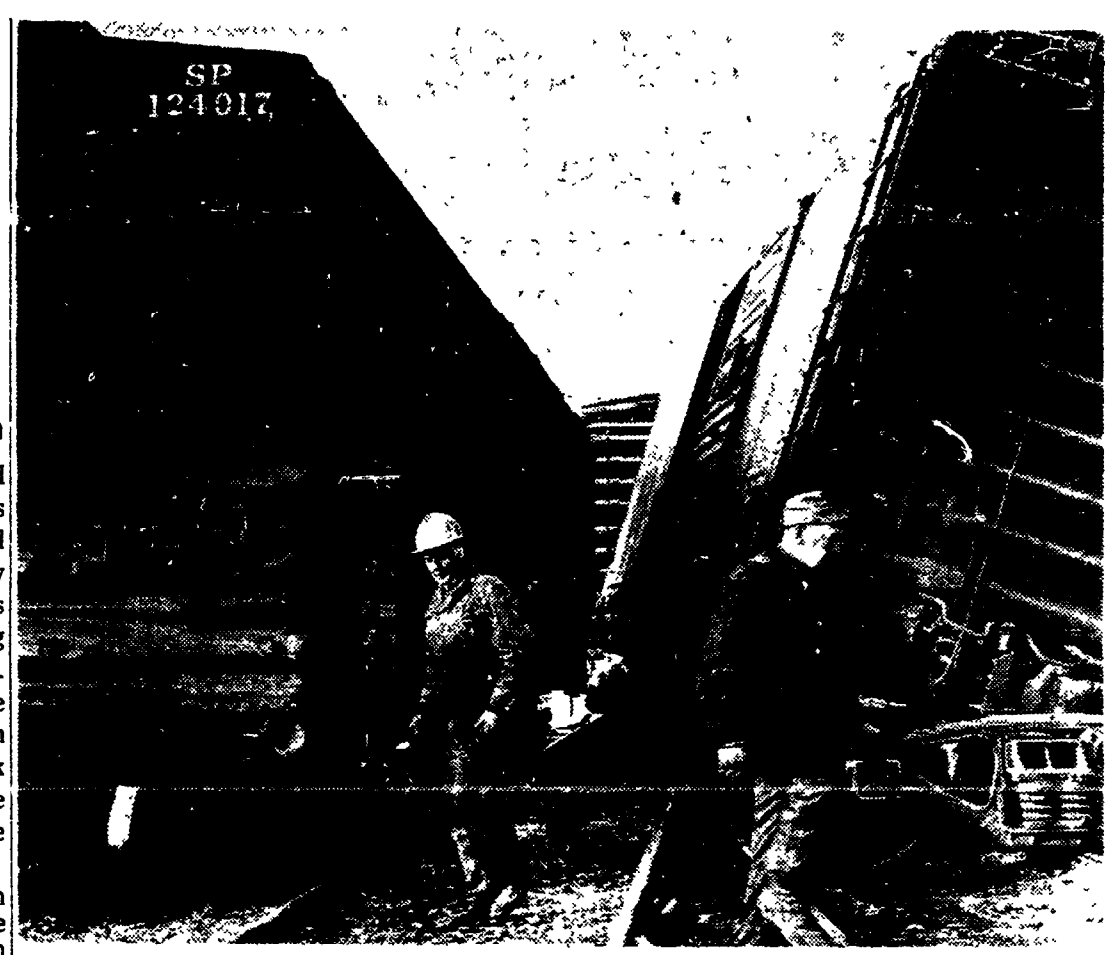

3 Rolls of Brass Wire Missing From Spencer-Johnston Co.

Three rolls of brass wire, weighing about 320 pounds, were reported missing this morning from the Spencer-Johnston Co., 1829 W. Haskell St.

A company official told Appleton police that 12 rolls of the wire were received some time ago. The loss was discovered when workmen were weighing the wire for return shipment.

The wire was stored in a warehouse which is locked when the plant is closed, police were told. An estimated value of the missing wire was not given.

Finance Committee Stands Pat on School Budget Cuts

Centralized Purchasing, Itemized Requests Asked of Departments

The Appleton council's finance committee repeated its stand Monday night that $296,000 be deleted from 1967 school board budget requests.

At the same time, the committee made several other recommendations and hinted at the possibility of asking the board of education to declare a school construction moratorium for a three-year period.

The committee will recommend to the council that:—It request the board of education to submit a program of school building needs for the next five years.

Submit Program

—The board continue to make use of existing facilities or consider expansion rather than building new schools.

—The board submit at a budget next year listing "absolute detail" on a school-by-school basis with reference to salaries and equipment.

—A general survey be made of existing communications (telephone service, etc.) in all municipal offices, including the city hall which does not have a switchboard.

Vehicle Use

—There should be an inventory completed of all municipal vehicles and their use, including those of the boards, commissions and agencies.

Economies Realized

Aldermen felt economies could be realized through centralized purchasing and joint use of municipal vehicles and other facilities.

Ald. Alvin E. Tews (5th), committee chairman, and John MacDonald (7th) said the committee

School Board Finds Areas For Possible Budget Cuts

Appleton Educators Admit, However, That Students in System Would Suffer Most

The Appleton Board of Education, asked to cut its 1967-68 budget by almost $300,000, found areas where that total might be deleted.

The board met Monday night at Morgan School in an attempt to delete provisions in its $5.6 million budget proposal which the council's finance committee previously decided were unnecessary.

The tenor of the meeting, attended by about 50 persons, was that the Appleton public school system would suffer if many of the cuts were made, but that areas apparently existed where deletions were possible.

Viewing the approximately $296,000 suggested as possible deletions, Supt. of Schools William Spears said, "Many of these programs we will have to consider for deletion will certainly cut the heart out of the education system."

Cuttable Items

Suggested as cuttable areas were the summer school, administrative and resource department personnel and certain capital outlay items, depending on the amount the full council decides must be cut when it votes on the matter at its Nov. 16 meeting.

One of the items which, it was suggested, might be cut brought a gasp of disapproval from most in the audience. It was the suggested summer school cut, under which Appleton High School West, Wilson Junior High School and a number of elementary schools conduct enrichment and remedial programs. Possible is a deletion of $38,400.

Deletion of some special textbooks would provide a cut of another $21,670 and library books, $10,042.

Both suggestions brought further protests from the audience. "It already is so difficult to get appropriate materials for these children. Now we will have to do completely without special texts and I don't think that's fair to our slower learning children," a remedial reading instructor said.

Up to Standard

"For the past two years, the State Department of Public Instruction has warned the schools to increase the money spent on library books and aids," Spears said. "We brought it up to standard last year and now, by cutting this down, we will be eight cents below what it was a year ago."

Concurring with Spears was James Murphy, principal at Madison Junior High, who told the board his school has about 200 books in its library, "a shame for a junior high school."

Sports equipment also came under scrutiny. "Since most of the sports can't support themselves, we subsidize them because we have always felt it is such a vital part of education," Spears said. "But much of the subsidy money will have to come out."

Another $40,000

Resource personnel — including librarians, a music instructor, a physical education teacher, guidance counselors and a dean of girls — also were listed for deletion for the first four months of the school year, added.

24 Complete Food Course At Neenah

Vocational School Class Includes Studies, Tours

NEENAH — Twenty-four persons have completed a food service course offered by the Neenah Vocational and Adult School, according to Mrs. Irma Kyle, the school's home economics coordinator.

Sections of the course were conducted on nutritional quality of food, essential health practices, sanitation and safety procedures, safe food handling, management of work, budgets and records and cost and portion control.

Enrollees in the course followed up class work last week with a tour of several commercial establishments in Neenah, Menasha and Appleton. The class met for the concluding session Monday to view layout and equipment and the operation of the largest institutional food service establishment in the area at Theda Clark Hospital.

Certificates were presented after the session to: Mrs. Calista Bagrud and Mrs. Julia Coughlin, Winneconne; Mrs. Margaret H. Lhost, Miss Carol Kolosso, Frank C. Lappen and Thomas Friday, Appleton; Mrs. Christian Coenraad, Mrs. Henry Plath and Miss Sally Steffen, Menasha; Mrs. Edna Kalbus, Mrs. Marion Safford and Mrs. Delores Stutz, Oshkosh, and Mrs. Therese L. Peace Corps Testing Nov. 12 At Appleton Post Office

Appleton area residents interested in joining the Peace Corps may take the Peace Corps placement test at 9 a.m. on Nov. 12 at the Appleton Post Office.

The Peace Corps uses the placement test to determine how an applicant can best be utilized overseas. The test measures general aptitude and the ability to learn a language, not education or achievement. If test scores indicate a limited language-learning ability, for example, the Peace Corps tries to place the applicant in an English-speaking country.

The placement test requires no preparation and is non-competitive — an applicant can neither pass nor fail.

The application form, not the placement test, is the most important factor in the selection of volunteers. Persons interested in serving in the Peace Corps must fill out an application, if they have not already done so, and present it to the tester before taking the test. Applications may be obtained from local post offices or from the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525.

The placement test takes about 1½ hours.

$21 Stolen in Break-in At Service Station

About $21 was missing following a nighttime burglary at Dan's 66 Service Station, 1225 E. Wisconsin Ave.

Appleton police were notified of the burglary about 8 a.m. today. They said approximately $11 was taken from a vending machine and another $10 was missing from a desk drawer.

Entry into the building was made by prying open a door.

Neighborhood Spanferkel Off, Dinners on the Lam

Roy Krause, 500 S. Telulah St., had to call off his neighborhood spanferkel Monday night.

The main course escaped. Krause called the Appleton Police Department about 7 p.m. and asked if anyone had found a loose pig. Sgt. Edgar Leisnering, after being convinced Krause was not joking, informed the southside man that police had received no such report.

Krause described the pig as having "average" characteristics. Leisnering notified squad car drivers to be on the lookout for the animal.

Krause said the pig fled as it was being taken from the car. It was learned today that the neighborhood roast had to be cancelled because it was too late to find a substitute main course.

The pig is still on the loose.

Quiet Halloween Seen in Appleton

BY BILL KNUTSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Hundreds of unruly youths roamed at will through downtown Appleton. Police had to contend with "human road-blocks" and shattered store windows on College Avenue, and a fire that burned out of control more than two hours.

Police were slugged and pummeled when they attempted to break up sporadic street brawls. That was Halloween 1957.

Halloween 1966 probably was best described by Mrs. Edna Kasper, 1003 S. Walden Ave. "Wonderful Halloween"

Mrs. Kasper, "a grandmother of many years," summarized Monday night's activities: "It was a wonderful Halloween. Never before were the youngsters so nice and courteous. The trick or treaters came early and were accompanied by an adult or older brothers and sisters. I gave away over 200 goodies, but by 8 p.m., everything was quiet."

Appleton police added a grateful, "Amen."

This reporter accompanied Detective Sgt. Carl Thiel and Patrolman Bernard Kabat on a special "Halloween Detail" from 7 to 11 p.m. Our beat was a major portion of the southwest side.

Not once did the police radio operator call upon Thiel and Kabat to investigate a Halloween-connected complaint in their district.

Few Complaints

Squad car men in other sections of the city were a little busier, but citizen complaints were few. Thiel and Kabat agreed, at the end of the special shift, that it was one of the quietest Halloween they had worked through. The veteran policemen have seen about 15 years of Halloween duty.

Supt. of Schools William Spears said this morning all of the city's public schools escaped vandalism. Leaves were set afire near Franklin School, but the fire was out when firemen arrived.

Two fully clothed dummies were confiscated by police. They were found in roadways and served to frighten at least a couple of motorists.

Lost Loot

At 7:17 p.m. police were called to discipline children who were caught playing inside clothes dryers at a southside laundromat. A barrel of apples was dumped on the roadway in the 600 block of S. Weimer

More Than 2,000 Youngsters thronged to eight schools Monday night to participate in the annual city-wide Halloween party sponsored by the recreation department. In scenes typical of activity, in the panel at the left, youngsters paraded at Morgan School as Mrs. Kenneth McMahon played the piano. In the center panel, checking a trick or treat back, from left are Pat Grishaber, Mary Grishaber and Janet Roovers, all at Richmond School. Costume award winners at Lincoln School, third panel, included, from left, standing, Bonnie Kositzke, weirdest costume; Danny Donarski, best tramp; and Sheila and Casey Geraghty, best witch. Seated are Darci DeLain, left, best girl, and Tony Volpe, best boy. Police reported few complaints throughout Appleton Monday night though youngsters were out in force. (Post-Crescent Photos)

Winnebago Okays New School Plan

Knowles Accuses Foes of Vilification

MADISON (AP) — Gov. Warren P. Knowles, noting a study of auto insurance rates already is under way in Wisconsin, accused his election opponents today of conducting a "campaign of vilification, half-truths, non-truths, and outright lies."

Knowles made the insurance announcement in reply to the urgings of Democratic Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey for a rate investigation. Knowles said the study was launched a year ago as one of the first steps taken by newly named Insurance Commissioner Robert Haase.

Avenue Reconstruction Bids Get Go-Ahead

Street, Sanitation Committee Approves National Advertising for Major Contractor

Appleton will start advertising its proposed College Avenue reconstruction project in national publications next week to attract as many bidders as possible, it was announced Monday.

The consultant for the avenue project was given the go-ahead to finalize plans and advertise during a meeting of the council's street-sanitation committee Monday.

It was disclosed College Avenue will be closed right after Easter so the street can be torn up and underground utilities replaced.

Completion deadline for the project is Nov. 1, 1967.

Place Responsibility

The project will be awarded to one major contractor who will be responsible for the work from start to finish.

The committee recommended:

All contractors be required to submit a proof of financial responsibility specifically for the College Avenue job.

—Purchase of 76 aluminum poles for the installation of a new avenue lighting system.

Approved Bonus

—Insertion of a $1,000 bonus and penalty clause in the contract to expedite construction.

—All utilities have underground work completed by July 31.

—The Appleton Water Department should decide whether to erect water fountains on the avenue.

It was predicted that possibly a dozen major contractors would submit bids on the overall avenue project.

Time Approved

The consultant told the committee the starting and finishing date for the avenue reconstruction were realistic and said any reliable contractor could get the job done.

Committee members said the bonus-penalty clause was good because it would be the College Avenue merchants who would benefit most by completion of the project before the Nov. 1 date.

Await Word

Last week Byrnes met with Buckley and it was agreed to hold off preparation of a brief which the former had previously recommended. They decided to await word from Nelson.

Nelson said in his wire today that the full application of Appleton for its $1.5 million grant is being subjected technical review in Washington. "There are so many more requests than funds available but if processing proceeds according to expectations," Nelson added, "a decision on Appleton's request may be ready by the end of the year."

O'Brien Leans on Kennedy Name for Political Inspiration

JANESVILLE (AP) — Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien is President Lyndon Johnson's chief political arm twister, but when it comes to boosting the destinies of Wisconsin Democratic candidates, the name of the late President John F. Kennedy is his favorite source of inspiration.

The energetic postal chief wound up two days of zip-like campaigning in Wisconsin night party aspirants Monday night with a speech that mentioned Kennedy's name 23 times. In a half-hour speech before a dinner crowd of 400 in the Parker Pen Co.'s Arrow Park hall, O'Brien referred to his present boss eight times.

The occasion was a testimonial gathering for Rep. Lynn E. Staubaum, a freshman congressman battling to keep his First District seat from returning to a former representative, Republican Henry Schadeberg. O'Brien, who serves a triple role in the Johnson administration — postmaster general, congressional lobbyist and political tactician — was lavish in his praise of Staubaum, and devastating in his attacks on the record of Schadeberg.

NOTICE OF FORECLOSURE SALE

Notice is hereby given:

1. That default has occurred in the payment of that certain note secured by mortgage dated, executed and delivered on the 1st day of January, 1965, by FRANCIS J. LYNCH and BARBARA O'CONNELL, his wife, mortgagors, to HARNISCHFEGER HOMES ACCEPTANCE CORPORATION, mortgagee, which mortgage was dated September 23, 1957 and was filed for record in the Office of the Register of Deeds for Outagamie County, Wisconsin on October 2, 1957 at Volume 442 of Mortgages, page 115, as Document No. 49778, and which said mortgage was assigned to HARNISCHFEGER HOMES ACCEPTANCE CORPORATION to FIRST WISCONSIN NATIONAL BANK OF MILWAUKEE by assignment dated February 21, 1958 and recorded in the Office of the Register of Deeds for Outagamie County, Wisconsin on February 26, 1958 in Volume 445 of Mortgages, page 607, as Document No. 50312.

2. That such default consists in failure to pay the principal and interest in the sum of Seventy-six and 65-100 Dollars ($76.65) which became due on the 1st day of December, 1965, and failure to pay a like amount of principal and interest which became due and payable on the 1st day of January, 1966, and failure to make payments, the said Bank, in accordance with the terms of said mortgage, has declared the full amount of principal and interest payable.

3. That the amount that is due by mortgagors to pay shortage in the sum of Twelve Thousand Six Hundred and 75-100 Dollars ($12,618.75) principal, Four Hundred Seventy-one and 74-100 Dollars ($471.74) interest, and further sum of One Hundred Seventeen and 93-100 Dollars ($117.93) advanced by mortgagee to pay shortage in the sum of Six Hundred Twenty-two Dollars ($622.00) attorney fees, being a reasonable amount as allowed by law, making a total amount of Thirteen Thousand Eight Hundred Thirty and 42-100 Dollars ($13,832.42).

4. That no action has been commenced to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof; and

5. That said mortgage contains a power of sale, effective upon default in the terms thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and in pursuance of the statutes in such case made and provided, the above described mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described therein and hereinafter described, at the front entrance of the Outagamie County Courthouse, 410 South Walnut Street, in the City of Appleton, County of Outagamie, State of Wisconsin, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock a.m., on the 29th day of November, 1966, to satisfy the amount due upon such mortgage on the day of sale.

The premises described in the above said mortgage and which will be sold to satisfy the same are described as follows, to-wit:

cutting the total by another $40,000.

"This indeed is cutting the heart out of the system," said William Pickett, physical education director, "because many of these posts needed to be filled about 2,000 children ago and we still are haggling about it. Resource people who travel from school to school are now taking care of about 1,300 pupils a week and its getting to be just a bit too much," he said.

All the above proposed deletions, plus such items as magazines, audio visual supplies, maps, globes and other instructional equipment, totaled $145,786.

In answer to protests about the cuts, Charles Buchanan, board president, said, "We understand all these items are important and needed, otherwise they would not have been included in the budget, but we have to make the cut somewhere and we have to consider priority."

Teacher Interviews
Traveling expenses for interviewing teachers, money for innovations and other travel allowances and many other minor items made up another $50,000 which will be considered for deletion.

"We have always felt it is a good thing to get teachers from all geographic locations to prevent inbreeding," Spears said, "so we have interviewed teachers in quite a few midwest schools. Perhaps we will have to cut down on that now."

A $2,500 cut in teaching innovations means there would be no money for any kind of experiments or workshops in teaching.

Machinery such as snow blowers and trucks, a number of repairs in all the schools and paving, blacktopping and fencing provided another deletion of $99,942.

Coincidence With Suggestion
"I have given up hope for blacktopping the play area at Richmond and have gotten used to seeing my child come home muddy in the spring," said Ald. Paul Klemmers (11th). "That is always the first cut and I guess people have come to expect it," he added.

Many of the proposed cuts which totaled $145,786 coincided with suggestions made by the finance committee, which had proposed a basic cut of $140,165.

In addition, the finance committee stated general economies of 3 1/2 per cent above the $140,165 could be arrived at by the board itself.

"The big problem here," Buchanan said, "is that about 90 per cent of the budget is fixed in salaries and bills, so we have to take the money out from the less than 10 per cent left."

In reviewing the items discussed, Whitney said, "It has been demonstrated we can cut almost anything, but are we going to be satisfied with a second, third or fourth rate system?"

Concurring with him was board member, Kenneth Sager, who said, "I'm sure we can get rid of a snow blower without too many sad results but when we have to start thinking about deleting a resource center, it gets to be quite sad."

Board members agreed the council had been generous in providing facilities the last 15 years but support of the operating budget was lacking.

Trial Date Set for Man Held on Contributing to Delinquency of Minor

The trial of Donald Vander Lou, 44 601 S. Douglas St., Appleton, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, was scheduled for Dec. 8 this morning by Outagamie County Judge Raymond P. Dohr.

Vander Lou was arrested Sept. 25 by Appleton police investigating an alleged morals offense. Vander Lou appeared early in October before Judge Gustave J. Keller in Branch 2 Court.

His trial was transferred to Branch 3 after an affidavit of prejudice was filed. Bond was set last month at $1,000 by Judge Keller.

KAGEN FOR CONGRESS

Race, Backed By Proxmire, Visits Appleton

Whirlwind Drive Carried to 9th Ward, Industry Gates

Rep. John Race (D-Fond du Lac) shifted his campaign for re-election to the 6th district congressional seat to Appleton's southside today, making speeches and neighborhood visits, accompanied by U.S. Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis.).

Race started shaking hands with workers at the plant gates of American Can Co. at Menasha at 6 a.m. and then was honored at a breakfast at Alex's Supper Club.

The Fond du Lac congressman made a three-hour whirlwind tour of the second precinct of the 9th Ward (Calumet County portion of Appleton), which represents the northernmost tip of the 6th congressional district.

Gave Assurance

In several appearances, Rep. Race: Gave assurance to some 9th Ward residents that they will be getting doorstep mail delivery service within the next two weeks as result of legislation he co-authored in the last session of congress.

Pledged to work with the other members of the Wisconsin congressional delegation to help get approval of a grant for the City of Appleton to assist it with its water expansion program.

Indicated his pleasure over the U.S. Department of Agriculture's reinstating the school milk lunch program, pointing out that he had asked Secretary of Agriculture Freeman and the administration to appropriate funds to resume the program.

Seeking Repeal

Told workers he would continue to work for repeal of the section of the Taft-Hartley Act, speaking out against the so-called right to work law.

At the "Citizens for Race" breakfast, Senator Proxmire urged re-election of the Fond du Lac congressman on his record and service to the district. "I think all you have to do is look at the sharp contrast between the achievements of Rep. Race and his Republican predecessor," Proxmire said.

He said Race spent 83 weekends in the district and also had the "best roll call record of any Wisconsin congressman this past session."

Play Key Roles

Proxmire said it was important to send congressmen like Race back to Washington because they played key roles in getting positive legislation approved, many times on close votes.

Rep. Race visited several classrooms at Madison Junior High School, including one group of students who had written him earlier in the year for material for a class project on government.

Race urged students to take interest in current affairs and government, and explained the makeup of the congress. He pledged continued support for legislation to help improve education, health and anti-pollution programs.

Pledges Support

"Some of you youngsters have indicated the water tastes different at times here in Appleton," Race said. "I want you to know that I will do everything I can to help your city obtain the necessary funds to find a solution to its water problem."

Race and Proxmire later went door-to-door, visiting southside housewives, and then went to Chilton for a noon speaking engagement.

Youth Participate In Panels, Talks

KAUKAUNA — The annual conference of the Wisconsin Youth Committee for Community Youth Participation will be held Saturday at Kaukauna High School, with sessions scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The committee, organized in 1952 at Appleton, is designed to encourage active youth participation in local community affairs. The theme of Saturday's workshop is "No Place to Go! Nothing to do!"

Registrations are scheduled for 8:30 a.m., followed by a hootenanny. Mayor Gilbert

Anderson will officially welcome the youths to the city.

Workshops to follow are scheduled on "Morality in the Community" and "Sex Attitudes in Adolescents."

Lynda Damro, Kaukauna High School student council president, and Paula Farley, Sturgeon Bay, will lead a workshop exploring education problems in today's schools.

Ted Fritsch, former Green Bay Packer and now football coach at Remontre High School in Green Bay, will be the keynote speaker. Election of officers will be conducted.

No Plans Developed for Green Bay Eastside Route

State Officials Say Suggested By-Pass Awaits County Study

MADISON — State Highway Department officials said today that development of an eastside by-pass in Green Bay on U.S. 41 depends upon the development of regional transportation plans by a Brown County commission studying local highway problems.

The by-pass, some Outagamie County critics have charged, will be necessary to bring students to the new campus of the University of Wisconsin on the northeast side of the city.

The planning of such a by-pass has not started, they indicated at a news conference called by Gov. Warren P. Knowles, to highlight the 1967 state highway construction plans.

7.3 Mile Stretch

Included in the plans is a 7.3 mile stretch of the highway around the west edge of the city. The Green Bay belt line segment is planned to cost about 2.3 million according to the department. The project is a part of the building program for the coming year which may reach almost $144 million.

Pressed for a date as to the start of construction of the section of highway which opponents of the Green Bay university site have said will be necessary to allow commuting by southern Fox Valley students, the officials said that no such plans are now being developed and that the start of such planning must await the completion of the regional highway plan being drawn by county officials.

Bridge Construction

At the news conference Knowles also said that a primary need which must be met by the 1967 legislature is the revision of state laws regarding formulas and allotments for state and in local bridge construction.

Knowles called the bridge needs in Green Bay and Sturgeon Bay "high priority items," and also indicated that great needs for bridge construction and improvement exist in Prairie du Chien and Hudson in the western part of the state.

Knowles lashed out at Democrats who have attacked his administration for an alleged lack of regulation of state insurance companies saying that the critics are representative of the entire "campaign of vilification, half-truths, non-truths and outright lies," being waged against him.

Refused Names

He refused to name those he intended his remark to specify but added "if the shoe fits, they can wear it."

Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, Knowles' Democratic opponent in the election to be held one week from today, has charged that under the administration of Knowles' appointee to the post of state insurance commissioner, regulation of automobile insurance companies in the state has been loosened.

Knowles is indebted to insurance companies for support given in the 1964 election, Lucey has said.

Study Started

Knowles pointed out that since his commissioner was appointed, former assembly speaker Robert Haase of Marinette, was appointed, a massive study has been started of state insurance laws and regulation that has received national and international attention. The study, he said, is being conducted by Prof. Spencer Kimball of the University of Michigan.

Haase also has started cooperative research programs with the graduate school of the UW in problem areas of insurance regulation, Knowles said.

Knowles also announced the formation of a temporary food study committee to examine increased food prices and possible legislative action. The committee will be representative of producers, retailers and consumer groups and is expected to report their recommendations to him before the start of the legislative session in January.

Knowles lashed out at Democrats who have attacked his administration for an alleged lack of regulation of state insurance companies saying that the critics are representative of the entire "campaign of vilification, half-truths, non-truths and outright lies," being waged against him.

He refused to name those he intended his remark to specify but added "if the shoe fits, they can wear it."

Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey, Knowles' Democratic opponent in the election to be held one week from today, has charged that under the administration of Knowles' appointee to the post of state insurance commissioner, regulation of automobile insurance companies in the state has been loosened.

Knowles is indebted to insurance companies for support given in the 1964 election, Lucey has said.

Knowles pointed out that since his commissioner was appointed, former assembly speaker Robert Haase of Marinette, was appointed, a massive study has been started of state insurance

Manitowoc School To Be Accepted For 1968-9 Action

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY Post-Crescent Staff Writer GREEN BAY — Manitowoc School's request to be accepted as a member of the Fox River Valley Catholic Conference when it is a 3-year school was denied at the circuit's fall meeting here Monday night. Last spring, conference members voted to take in the new school beginning with the 1968 season when it will have four classes, but it asked reconsideration Monday night and was voted down, 5 to 2. Coach Jim Kersten, who made Roncalli's presentation, said it will participate in the state basketball tournament series next year, has good facilities. Turn to Page 6, Col. 5

Neenah Wins 11 Berths on 2 All-ME Platoons

9 Rocket Gridders Honored

SHAWANO—Champion Neenah High School landed nine players and claimed 11 berths on the All-Mid-Eastern Conference football team selected by the coaches at their meeting here Monday afternoon. Coach Ben Meixl's unbeaten Rockets took six places on the offensive team and five defensive spots. Kaukauna picked up six berths, Kimberly two and New London, Clintonville and Shawano one apiece. Two-way performers included junior end Dan Jankowski, Neenah; tackles Dennis Van Eperen, Kaukauna; and Tom Schiedermeyer, Kimberly; and Neenah guard Jim Fellers. Other players on the offensive and halfback Lee Nimmer, Kaukauna; guard Greg Nash, Neenah; tackle Gary Losse, halfback Chuck Wismer, and fullback Dan Meyer, Neenah; and center Roy Hedtke, Clintonville. Joining Van Eperen, Schiedermeyer, Fellers and Jankowski on the defensive unit are end Dan Cartwright, New London; guard Richard Huss, Kaukauna; center halfback Bob Pierce, Neenah; corner linebackers Kevin Miliken, Neenah, and Bill Verhagen, Kaukauna, and safeties Dave Jesse, Shawano, and Tom Bachhuber, Neenah. Jankowski is the only junior on the offensive team while Miliken, Verhagen and Jesse also are third-year students. All teams except Menasha in the opening quarter against Grinnell. Taking over will be senior Gerry Gatzke, who Roberts describes as his "other first-string fullback." Gatzke, who led the team in rushing last year, was a little overweight in the first part of the season and the hustling Witte played so well that he won the backfield spot. Gatzke is now back in fine shape and after "playing like his old rugged self" in the Grinnell game, Roberts feels is ready to run and block with authority. One other casualty is junior tackle Ken Gatzke, who snapped a tendon in his hand requiring an operation. Plagued by injuries since the season began, Gatzke had been tabbed as a probable starter. This week's foe is Monmouth, a steadily-improving club which beat Grinnell and Knox and gave Beloit a good battle last week. The Scots have good size, and a greater emphasis on passing seems to have implemented their offensive punch in recent weeks. Roberts stressed that the Vikes can hardly afford to take Monmouth lightly, especially in view of the fact that St. Olaf could bounce Ripon out of sole leadership. "Ripon has always had trouble with St. Olaf, and Saturday the Oles will be battling for a share of the championship. All we can do is beat Monmouth and hope St. Olaf will help us out."

Matter of Time for Donny, Grabo

Packer Rookies Shine in Brief Displays

BY JACK HAND NEW YORK (AP) — Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski still are only spear-carriers in the Green Bay Packer cast, which Vince Lombardi admits "eventually will be a fine team." The $1 million bonus babies, who joined the Packers as rookies after the College All-Star Game, last August get into the ball games in the late stages when they are already won or lost. They do make their presence known when they get a shot. Only in the Atlanta game, a 56-3 rout, did Coach Lombardi give the rookies much of a chance to shine. Donny, the flashy halfback from Texas Tech, carried five times for 15 yards against the Falcons and scored a touchdown on a five-yard run. Leading Rusher He also flashed some of that $600,000 class by returning a punt 77 yards for another TD. To round out the day, Donny also kicked two punts averaging 44.5 yards. Grabowski came out of that Atlanta game, Oct. 23, as the leading rusher with 52 yards on seven tries, including a 26-yard scamper. It was after this game that Jim Taylor revealed he still was unsigned and was playing out his option with the Packers. Lombardi used his big bonus boys sparingly Sunday at Detroit. They alternated at carrying the ball in the final minutes, and the Lions were looking for them. Anderson made 15 yards on two plays, but fullback Grabowski was thrown for minus six yards in two efforts. Anderson also caught a pass from relief quarterback Zeke Bratkowski. The season totals for Anderson show total yardage of 388 with 52 on carries, 19 on two pass receptions, 78 on two punt runbacks and 239 on 10 kickoff returns. When Paul Hornung was unable to play against the Lions

Sunday due to a pinched nerve, Lombardi went to the veteran Elijah Pitts as his starting halfback, although Anderson eventually is due to get the job. Grabowski, the Illinois boy who is waiting behind Taylor, has carried the ball only 12 times all season and has gained 56 yards. His one pass reception gained five yards. Both have been used on some of the special teams. Lombardi has been going along with much the same team that won for him last year. Why not? They have won seven out of eight games and lead the Western Conference of the National Football League. Fleming Returns Fuzzy Thurston and Jerry Kramer still are the guards, pulling out to run interference for Taylor and Hornung. Forrest Gregg and Bob Skoronski are the tackles. Bill Curry seems to have taken over the regular center job from Ken Bowman, who was injured early and can't get back. Carroll Dale at split end,

Boyd Dowler at flanker, Marv Fleming at tight end and dependable Bart Starr at quarterback round out the offensive unit. Fleming, incidentally, probably is the only man ever to have fought himself out of Lombardi's doghouse. He lost his job to Bill Anderson late last season but has reclaimed it. Anderson still sees plenty of action. The defensive unit is the same. Bob Jeter took over the right corner back post from Doug Hart during the championship game with Cleveland and still is there. Herb Adderley at the other corner with Tom Brown and Willie Wood at safety. The tremendous trio of linebackers — Dave Robinson, Ray Nitschke and Lee Roy Caffey backs up the front four of Willie Davis, Ron Kostelnik, Henry Jordan and Lionel Aldridge. Lombardi doesn't make many changes, but when the time comes he knows Anderson and Grabowski will be ready.

New Orleans Will Become 16th Member of the NFL

Roussel Leading Candidate for Franchise Ownership; Superdome Issue Up for Vote Next Week

By BEN THOMAS NEW ORLEANS (AP)—This historic city becomes the 16th member of the National Football League today. A news conference was scheduled for this morning to announce the awarding of the franchise to New Orleans. NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle—who will be the czar of the super-league when the National and American leagues complete their merger in 1970—quietly arrived in town late Monday night for the announcement session. Scheduled to join Rozelle for the session were Sen. Russell B. Long and Rep. Hale Boggs, Louisiana Democrats; Gov. John J. McKeithen; Mayor Victor Schiro; Lamar Hunt, owner of the AFL Kansas City Chiefs and probably several other club owners. New Orleans will field a team in the NFL next season. The name most frequently mentioned for the team is the New Orleans — or Louisiana — Saints, from the city's Dixieland heritage. Today, incidentally, is All Saints Day. However, it will be up to the owner of the franchise to select the team name. Rozelle said on a visit here last week that the NFL would study the applications for ownership after announcing the franchise city and decide on the owner within a few days. Leading Candidate Louis J. Roussel, a $4-a-day New Orleans street car motor-man as a teen-ager who now has a fortune exceeding $150 million, is the leading candidate and probable choice. The Associated Press learned. Roussel, an oilman and banker, has close ties with Sen. Long. It was Long, assistant majority leader of the Senate, and House, who steered legislation Boggs, his counterpart in the Congress last month to give the pro-merger an exemption from anti-trust laws. New Orleans has been seeking the franchise since 1960. Turn to Page 8, Col. 1

Cards Beat Bears To Recapture Sole Conference Lead

Larry Wilson Intercepts 3 Passes; Roland Scores 2 Touchdowns

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two mighty defensive units dominated Monday night's National Football League game between St. Louis and the Chicago Bears, and the difference was Larry Wilson, a 190-pound defensive safety for the Cardinals. Wilson intercepted three passes, including one that he returned for a touchdown, as St. Louis moved back into first place in the Eastern Conference with a hard-fought 24-17 victory over the Bears. St. Louis regained the lead in the Eastern Conference as a result of the victory. The Cards are 6-1-1, just ahead of Dallas, 5-1-1. Chicago, a member of the Western Conference, is 3-4. John Roland bulled over from the three for two first-quarter touchdowns to give St. Louis a quick two-touchdown margin. Rudy Bukich's sneak and his 80-yard pass play to Gale Sayers enabled Chicago to keep within a touchdown of the Cardinals. Jim Bakken of St. Louis and Roger Leclerc of the Bears booted field goals of 40 and 16 yards, respectively, to complete the scoring. Little to Say Wilson sat quietly in the dressing room after the game and had little to say about his performance. However, his coach, Charley Winner, did the talking. "He's played great football all year," Winner said. "I don't think he's capable of playing a bad game. . . . You can tell how much Larry means to the team when the players elected him their team captain. He's an inspirational player and repeatedly comes up with outstanding plays." Winner said the Cardinals switched Wilson, a seven-year veteran from Utah, around at times. "You can't expect to do the same things you've been doing and beat (Chicago Coach) George Halas." Halas praised Wilson's play, turning him one of the game's best defensive players ever. Wilson's first pass interception came in the first period after the Cards had moved to a 7-0 lead on Roland's three-yard scoring dash around right end. On the first play after the kickoff, Wilson, snatched a Bukich pass at the Bear's 5 and returned it 17 yards. In the fourth quarter, Wilson intercepted a Bukich pass at the Bears' 29 and dashed into the end zone for a touchdown that gave St. Louis a 24-10 lead. However, Wilson wasn't through. With 2:50 remaining in the game and the gap closed 24-17, he intercepted another Bukich pass, this one on the Cardinals' 14. Bukich also had an 80-yard Turn to Page 7, Col. 2

Denver Fan Fined for Throwing Ice Cubes

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A Denver Broncos football fan, Harvey E. Thompson, 37, was fined $50 Monday for throwing ice cubes at the Kansas City Chiefs during their 54-10 victory over Denver Oct. 23. "You can't let your enthusiasm get away with you," County Judge George Manerbio said in fining Thompson, a hotel bartender. Thompson said he became upset when three Kansas City players piled on Bronco linebacker John Bramlett. Thompson expressed regret and offered his apologies in court. "I'm sure he realizes he could have hit some of the spectators," the judge said.

Name Spurrier Collegiate Back of Week

By DICK COUCH Steve Spurrier's right arm still is Florida's most valuable football property, but the Gators are cashing in on his right foot too. The Florida quarterback, who completed 27 passes against Auburn last Saturday before kicking a 40-yard field goal that gave the unbeaten Gators a 30-27 victory, was named The Associated Press' Back of the Week today for the second time this season. Spurrier passed for 259 yards and a touchdown, ran for another score, punted five times for a 46-yard average and booted the winning field goal with two minutes to play. In leading the Gators to seven straight victories, the versatile senior has won 117 of 177 pass attempts — a 66 per cent completion percentage — for 1,397 yards and 14 touchdowns. "I can't award Steven the Heisma Trophy," says Florida Coach Ray Graves, "but if I could I'd give him two of them. He is absolutely the greatest clutch athlete I've ever seen."

Chisox Infielder Popular In Off-Season Teaching Job

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Wayne Causey, Chicago White Sox second baseman, is now doing fielding in the classroom. Causey, 29, who formerly played with the Kansas City Athletics, is now a substitute teacher in the Independence school system. Monday was his third day on the job. "I really like it," he said. "My main concern was discipline, but we're really getting along real well." A graduate of Louisiana State College, Monroe, he is qualified to teach math, accounting, science and physical education. He subbed for an eighth grade math teacher Monday. Not First "I heard of another ball player who took up substitute teaching in the off-season, and thought it'd be a good idea," he explained. Badgers Capable of Winning Last Three Games, Milt Says

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's rapidly improving football Badgers are capable of winning all three remaining games, Head Coach Milt Bruhn said Monday. "We'll have to stop Griesse," said Bruhn as his charges watched films of the Purdue-Michigan State game. Bob Griesse, the Boilermakers' quarterback, is considered one of the finest passers in the nation. Need Secondary Effort "The secondary will have to play as well as it has been playing," Bruhn said. Wisconsin, 2-4-1, has not allowed a touchdown pass since the second game of the season. Bruhn said Junior Dick Schumitsch of Antigo may start at halfback ahead of sophomore Bill Yanakos Saturday. Schumitsch played well in Saturday's 28-17 loss to Michigan. Defensive end Warren Dyer will definitely miss the Purdue game because of an ankle sprain. Replacing him will be John Tietz, a junior. Pete Gabrielson, second-string center, was hospitalized Monday with a stomach ailment. His status for Saturday is doubtful.

Hollandtown '11' Has Perfect Slate

The Hollandtown Raiders — a grade school football team — has completed its season with a perfect record. The Raiders, coached by Bob Wurdiner and Dale Dorn, were not only unbeaten and untied through a 9-game schedule but were unscored-upon. The coaches believe the team has the only unscored-upon record of any grade school team in the state. Hollandtown's team performed during halftimes at Lawrence University and Mantiwoc Chiefs game.

Bus Crash Kills Four, Injures 25 Soccer Players

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (AP) — Four young soccer players were killed and 25 others injured Monday when a bus taking them home from a game failed to make a curve on the Cuernavaca-Mexico City highway. Antonio Medina, driver of the bus, was detained by police. The athletes had taken part in a tournament in Otumba, State, of Mexico, and were en route to their homes in the village of Emiliano Zapata in the state of Morelos. The bus went into a canyon after it left the road. The dead youths ranged in age from 18 to 25.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers said Monday that defensive halfback Jim Bradshaw suffered a severe ankle sprain in the game at Dallas on Sunday and won't be able to play against the Cleveland Browns at Pitt Stadium next Sunday. Roncalli's Bid For Early FVCC Entry Denied ties and has run into problems of scheduling. He pointed out that there was no danger that the Jets would overpower any of the existing members since its frosh football team had 2-3 and basketball 8-12 last year and its freshman-sophomore football team 2-4-1 this fall. Conference schools were urged to attempt to schedule the new school on a non-conference basis next year in both football and basketball. Precedent Set It was felt that a precedent had been set when Lourdes and Xavier were denied entry until they had four classes. The Rev. Kenneth De Groot, Don Gosz, and Larry Van Alstine, were named to a committee to work out scheduling difficulties which will result when Roncalli enters. It will have to be decided if the circuit is to play a round-robin schedule in football and basketball or have fewer games so that traditional rivalries without outside schools can be maintained. The Rev. Kernan Virlee, Premontre, was elected secretary succeeding Bill Fitzpatrick, formerly of St. John, who is no longer affiliated with the conference. Premontre was awarded the conference track meet and relays, and St. Mary again will play host to the league tennis meet.

Alabama Star Suspended

Kelley Violated Curfew Regulation, Says Paul Bryant

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Alabama fullback Leslie Kelley has been placed on indefinite suspension by Coach Paul Bryant for violation of a curfew regulation. Kelley said the Cullman, Ala., senior did not return to the athletic dormitory until 4:30 Sunday morning. Curfew was 1 a.m. "Les told me that he was thinking of quitting the team and that he started driving home twice Saturday night but changed his mind and finally returned to the dorm," the Tide coach said. Bryant said, "I told him under the circumstances and in fairness to the team and him, we would have to suspend him indefinitely." "We've asked him to move out of the athletic dorm and into another dorm on campus. He is still on scholarship and it will be up to Les to prove to me that he is worthy of another chance and a rusher for undefeated Alabama.

Blasts Critics of ND Standards

Irish Mentor Irked By Recruiting Queries

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN CHICAGO (AP) — Coach Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame tore into critics Monday who intimated that the Irish may have players who can do everything with a football but autograph it. "It is unfortunate," he told the Chicago's American Quarterback Club, "that when you are winning there is always someone ready to point an accusing finger at you." Parseghian left football statistics of his unbeaten, No. 1 Irish at home and came equipped with these figures: "Our 1966 frosh received 31 full grants in aid and four half grants, about the same as the Big Ten. Our aid includes room, books and tuition, but not $15 a month for incidentals permitted by the NCAA. Our current frosh and the football squad scored 70 points higher than the national college beard average." Hanratty Mediocre Parseghian also was irked by some critics who classify Terry Parseghian as a very average leg bruise but is expected to quarterback. They pointed out that with split-end Jim Seymour O'Brien, who didn't make the sidelined with a sprained foot, trip to Philadelphia, may have Hanratty completed only 4 of 17 passes against Navy last week. "Some experts get unhappy if Terry doesn't hit 19 out of 19 passes," said Parseghian. "Sure, he missed Seymour. Who wouldn't? But let's give credit to the Navy defense and let's look at what Terry did do. He handled the ball well and called a good game. He ran well. He scored two touchdowns and the team put 31 points on the board. How can you find fault with that?" "There is no way for Seymour to make a catch if: 1. The defense doesn't get the ball back from the other team. 2. The offensive line doesn't block. 3. Hanratty doesn't get the ball near Seymour." Team Effort "It's a team game. Hanratty and Seymour need each other, and they need the rest of the team to be successful." Seymour may be ready for some action in Notre Dame's homecoming against Pittsburgh Saturday. Nick Eddy, the team's leading rusher, has a Hanratty as a very average leg bruise but is expected to quarterback. They pointed out that with split-end Jim Seymour O'Brien, who didn't make the sidelined with a sprained foot, trip to Philadelphia, may have Hanratty completed only 4 of 17 passes against Navy last week. "There is no way for Seymour to make a catch if: 1. The defense doesn't get the ball back from the other team. 2. The offensive line doesn't block. 3. Hanratty doesn't get the ball near Seymour." Team Effort "It's a team game. Hanratty and Seymour need each other, and they need the rest of the team to be successful." Seymour may be ready for some action in Notre Dame's homecoming against Pittsburgh Saturday. NOTES and NOTIONS

Just when the crystal globe has been cleared of most of its fog, our forecasting season enters the home stretch. Last week, there were 33 correct picks, with four wrong and one tie, for an 892 page — one of the highest in "Notes and Notions" history. The final 1966 area high school games — all in the Little Nine — are set for Wednesday. The season's guessing rate is now .792 (221 right, 58 wrong and seven ties).

Packers over Vikings — Frank Tarkenton and Co will give the Bays a good "run" — in more ways than one. But the division leaders will again find the right offensive-defensive combination to victory.

Purdue over Wisconsin — The Boilermakers, with the trail to out of the athletic dorm and into another dorm on campus. He is still on scholarship and it will be up to Les to prove to me that he is worthy of another chance and a rusher for undefeated Alabama.

the Rose Bowl now marked clearly, aren't about to stray. The Badgers, spurred by homecoming, will make another respectable showing, however.

Lawrence over Monmouth — With their title hopes still much alive, the Vikings should be ready for a productive effort.

Little Nine Conference — Winneconne over Reedsville, Omro over Freedom, Brillion over Shiocton, Denmark over Hortonville, Wrightstown over Hilbert.

Other NFL games — Cleveland over Pittsburgh, Dallas over Philadelphia, Chicago over Detroit, Los Angeles over San Francisco, St. Louis over New York, Baltimore over Washington.

Other MC games — Beloit over Cornell, Coe over Grinnell, Carleton over Knox, St. Olaf over Ripon.

Arkansas Grigger Still 'Critical'

HOUSTON (AP) — Doctors at the Houston hospital where Claude Smithy is recovering from emergency brain surgery reported the Arkansas football player's condition as "critical-no change," Monday. The defensive tackle collapsed in the Razorback dressing room Saturday night after Arkansas defeated Texas A&M 34-0 in College Station. He was rushed to Houston for a three-hour operation for a subdural hematoma, a gathering of blood beneath the outer covering of the brain. He remained unconscious Monday in the intensive care ward of Methodist Hospital. His wife was nearby.

SPORT FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By John Behnke What was the greatest punting ever seen in a football game? ... Many experts choose Eric "The Red" Tipton's performance for Duke in a game in 1938. ... Duke was playing mighty Pitt at Durham, N.C. that day. ... Tipton punted inside the Pitt 15-yard line TWELVE different times in that game! ... His great kicking enabled Duke to win 7-0 in one of the classic football games of all-time.

"How's this for an enviable record ... In the seasons of 1946 and 1947 when Notre Dame had two of their famous undefeated teams they were NEVER behind at any time in any game they played in those two seasons! ... Imagine never being behind in a game for two years.

Here's a real football oddity ... There once was a game between Southern Cal and Washington in which one player scored all the points in the game FOR BOTH TEAMS! ... He was Byron Haines of Washington, and here's how he did it ... He scored a touchdown for his own team, and later in the game was tackled behind his own goal line, giving a safety to his opponents ... The final score of the contest was 6-2, so he scored all the points!

I bet you didn't know ... we now have in stock permanent press corduroy TRs. Will never need ironing, self-pressing while drying. Tan & Olive ... $9.00.

Mel Renfro's Return To Cowboys' Lineup Sparks Team Effort

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
DALLAS ZAP) — Mel Renfro says he's quite happy to be back on the defense with the Dallas Cowboys although he regrets that he didn't get a full opportunity to find out what he could really do at running back.

But if his performance against Pittsburgh Sunday is a criterion of what he will be doing as Mel, everybody is as happy as Mel that he's back on defense.

Renfro just flat wasn't big enough for the job of running back, something Coach Tom Landry feared when he put him there this season. But Dallas needed a running back more than anything.

Not that Mel didn't have the stamina or the desire — or the ability — because he bordered on the sensational when he got off some of his end sweeps. But he was hurt too much.

The result was that while he languished on the bench trying to get rid of his ills, Dan Reeves was making an unexpected fine showing. When Mel got back he found himself out of a regular job.

Hurt Ankle
Renfro never could quite shake off a ligament tear in his ankle. It was not a question of the ligament being torn but of being pulled away from the bone. It healed but when he stretched the ligament it caused great pain, which is not conducive to tough running.

Last week Coach Landry announced that Renfro was too valuable to be sitting on the bench and that he would return to the defense where he made quite a reputation last year with his kickoff and punt returns while holding down the strong safety spot.

"There's nothing wrong with us that some big plays by the defense won't cure," said Landry, in announcing that Mel would return to safety to the disappointment of the fans, who liked to see him run around the wings, and to Mel himself, who was a flanker in college and hoped he might be tried there by the pros.

Dallas already had the darndest bunch of flankers in the National Football League but it certainly needed a good running back.

Rewarding Change
Mel showed up very well indeed when he wasn't injured.

"I was the lightest halfback in the league," he explained. "I saw soon that I would have trouble taking the pounding of a running back."

Renfro missed four games before Landry called a halt and sent Renfro to free safety.

"That is the best place for me until the ankle straightens out," said Renfro. "I have more running room there than at strong safety and there is less chance of being hit by those big guys."

That Renfro was just the boy to snap Dallas out of its slump that saw it tied by St. Louis and beaten by Cleveland after winning four straight games was well illustrated Sunday when the Cowboys clobbered Pittsburgh 52-21.

Renfro gave the defense the momentum to lead to all but one of the touchdowns and it was his 87-yard kickoff return that broke the game wide open. He also ran a punt out from the end zone to get Dallas on its way to another touchdown.

Little 9 Teams To Play Finales Wednesday

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE

Wrightstown	7	1	0
Winneconne	6	2	0
Hilbert	4	3	1
Hortonville	4	4	0
Reedsville	4	4	0
Omro	3	5	0
Brillion	2	6	0
Freedom	1	6	1
Shiocton	0	8	0

With all other area high school conferences having stowed away their football gear for another year, the hearty band of 10 teams in the misnamed Little Nine Conference don their equipment one more time before calling it a season.

Whereas most leagues play an 8-game campaign, the Little Nine slates a round-robin schedule that necessitates the extra contest. This week's five games will be played Wednesday, with three day and two night affairs on the docket.

League-leading Denmark hopes to put the finishing touches on a perfect season in the afternoon with a victory over Hortonville at Hortonville. The unbeaten, untied Vikings walloped Omro, 37-6, Friday night to run their win streak to eight games as halfback Darrell Hansen tallied three touchdowns. Hansen upped his staggering individual point production to 125, while the Vikings added to their 36 points per game average.

The hot and cold Polar Bears, meanwhile, grabbed their fourth win against Shiocton, 13-0. The victory boosted Hortonville into a fifth place tie with Reedsville, which dropped a 26-8 shocker to Brillion.

Wrightstown won its showdown with Winneconne, 16-14, on Dave Vander Wetering's 31-yard field goal, which left the Tigers waiting in the wings for a possible tie-tie should Denmark falter. Hilbert, which struggled to a 0-0 tie with Freedom, plays host to Wrightstown in a day game.

touchdown pass to end Dick Gordon nullified in the fourth period by a holding penalty.

Chicago picked up 282 yards passing and rushing while St. Louis could muster only 166 against the Bears. Charley Johnson, the St. Louis quarterback, hit only four of 16 passes for 47 yards while Bukich connected on 12 of 28 for 172 yards.

Sayers was the leading ground gainer, picking up 68 yards in 19 attempts. Roland led St. Louis rushers with 52 yards in 17 tries.

Halas, who used Jon Arnett a bit for Sayers in the late stages of the game, said he was trying to rest his running back. He said he felt the rest helped Sayers outrun the Cardinal secondary on the 80-yard scoring play.

Winner said of Sayers: "All you can do is try to keep him contained. He's the toughest runner I've ever seen. He's got power and he hits 'em."

When asked if the Cardinals played conservatively with a 14-0 lead early in the game, Winner replied: "We weren't trying to play conservatively. You've got to give the Bears credit. They wanted this game badly. I've never seen two teams as high for one game."

Ghost Cagers Open Drills For 1966-7

KAUKAUNA — Practice for the 1966-67 basketball season got underway at Kaukauna High School Monday. Players who were on the football team will not be allowed to report until Saturday, according to Ken Vander Velden, coach.

The Ghosts have a good nucleus back for the coming season although losing the top three rebounders from last year, Greg Esslin, Bob Main and Gary Riemer.

Letter winners back from last year include Quint Vanden Heuvel, Pat Kavanaugh, and Joseph Scheuten. Considerable help is expected from players up from the junior varsity squad including Bob Jansen, John Van De Hey, Rick Carstens, Scott Lewandowski, Terry Kobin, Dennis Spice, Mike Cleveland, Kurt Luedtke, Dave Egan, Tom Baumgartner, Mark Tatrow, Bruce Specht, Gus Nettkoven and Sean Rohan.

Stofa Replaces Rick Norton on Miami Roster

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Miami Dolphins signed quarterback John Stofa, former University of Buffalo football star, Monday to replace Rick Norton, who is out for the season with a broken jaw.

Stofa, who threw 27 touchdown passes in seven games to lead Lakeland, Fla., to the North American League championship this season, joined the Dolphins immediately and worked out in Miami Stadium.

Stofa, 24 years old, six-three and weighing 210 pounds, had been cut from the Dolphins roster after training camp. Then he played exhibition games with the Pittsburgh Steelers. When cut by them, he joined Lakeland.

First string quarterback George Wilson Jr., whose shoulder was injured against the Houston Oilers a week ago, did not throw in the drill for next Sunday's game against the Buffalo Bills. Pass patterns were rehearsed only when Dick Wood did the quarterbacking.

Would Provide Undisputed Champion

Asks NCAA Grid Playoffs

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A post-season college football playoff, proposed Monday by Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty, received preliminary approval today from Walter Byers, executive secretary of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA).

Daugherty's proposal called for elimination of the traditional New Year's Day bowl games in favor of an eight-team playoff between the champions of six major college conferences and two leading independents.

"I don't see any reason why college football cannot follow the same national collegiate playoff pattern as all other intercollegiate sports enjoy," said Byers, spokesman for the ruling body of intercollegiate athletics.

Same Rules
"This means, of course, that the playoff arrangement in football would have to conform to the same basic requirements as national collegiate (NCAA) championships in other sports," he added, saying:

"In addition, it would be critical that the very legitimate interests of the traditional friends of intercollegiate football, who through the years have conducted the various bowl games, would be adequately protected. All this could be accomplished in the best interests of all parties concerned."

Byers did not elaborate, but his statement issued in Kansas City implied a playoff which should include games at the various bowl stadiums and possible inclusion of additional conference champions.

Wide Approval
Daugherty said his plan, which he said had the approval of some fellow coaches and Notre Dame, would call for a playoff among the Big Ten, the Big Eight, Southwestern, Southeastern, Pacific Coast and Atlantic Coast conferences, plus two at-large teams.

His main points were that it would provide—once and for all—an undisputed national collegiate football champion among major colleges and would produce a financial bonanza for NCAA members from television receipts.

The plan is not new. Bud Wilkinson, the former Oklahoma coach, has plugged for such a playoff as have others.

"The television revenue from an NCAA playoff would be tremendous," said Daugherty. "It would cut in all 120 NCAA member schools on the television receipts—and let each school do with the money what it wants. It would bring each school in the NCAA at least $20,000."

Daugherty said an NCAA playoff is the only way to determine a national champion.

Phils' Coaching Staff Shaken Up

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A shake-up of the Philadelphia Phillies' coaching staff will bring Andy Seminick back to Connie Mack Stadium where as a catcher he helped boost the 1950 Whiz Kids to a National League pennant.

Veteran minor league manager Larry Shepard will also join the Phils as a new coach, according to General Manager John Quinn, who announced the changes Monday.

Quinn said that George Myatt, back for his fourth season, will be the only member of the 1966 coaching staff around next season.

Leaving are Peanuts Lowrey, 48, who will enter private business; Cal McLush, 40, who will scout major league teams for the Phils, and Bob Oldis, 37, who will scout for the Phils in the Midwest.

Walker Slams 630 Pin Series In Kaukauna

Roman Gregorius Fires 258 Count For Highest Game

(MEN'S BOWLING)

Dick Walker slammed a 630 series in the Men's Major League, at Kaukauna's Bowling Bar, to pace Fox Cities area scoring Monday night.

Roman Gregorius, with a 258 in the 41 Bowl League, accounted for the best line. He finished with 589.

Other above-600 counts in the Kaukauna circuit were a 607 by Bob Bernardy (who included a 253 game), a 609 by Bob Ribarchek, and a 604 by Jim Minkebe.

In the Tri-City Men's League, at the 41 Bowl, Bob Toonen set the pace, with a 628. Dick Steinberg and Russ Hassell hit 236 lines.

In the Sabre All-Star Classic League, which features a 4-game format, Keith Gehring took top honors, with a 776 aggregate. The best of his four lines was a 232. Earl Schmidt was right behind Gehring with a 775.

Jim McDaniel took 41 Bowl League series laurels, with a 600 (which included a 226).

ing a pro franchise since 1960. The prime mover in the drive was David Dixon, who has promoted NFL exhibition games here for several years.

Dixon was out stumping the state Monday in support of a constitutional amendment—to be decided a week from today—which would establish a commission empowered to levy a hotel occupancy tax in metropolitan New Orleans and use the proceeds to finance bonds for a Superdome Sports Stadium.

The Superdome, Dixon told audiences at Ruston and Baton Rouge, would be a "giant industry in which all of Louisiana will share."

Rozelle said last week he considered it extremely important that Louisiana voters approve the stadium amendment.

Tulane University has said it would permit a pro team to use its 82,500-seat stadium as an interim facility—no more than three years.

Although the stadium—site of the post-season Sugar Bowl game for collegiate teams—is one of the country's largest, it has almost no parking facilities.

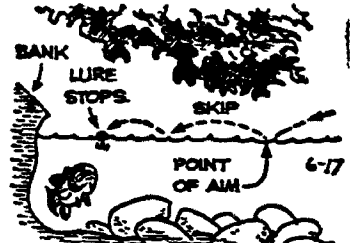

Once a domed stadium is built—provided the amendment passes—Tulane is expected to tear down its stadium, use the land for badly needed classrooms and also play in the Superdome.

Roussel said earlier that he could build a domed stadium with private capital if the amendment isn't approved.

Rozelle and a group of club owners visited New Orleans, Cincinnati and Seattle last week.

Patriots Tough To Run Against

Kansas City Leads AFL in Total Offense

NEW YORK (AP) — Now that Boston has taken over first place in the American Football League's Eastern Division, maybe Coach Mike Holovak ought to get his defensive line-men and defensive secondary together.

Figures released by the AFL today credit the Patriots with the league's top rushing defense. Boston has allowed a mere 68.4 yards per game. The passing defense is quite another story. The Pats are running last there with yield of 232.6 yards per game.

Houston Antwine, one of Holovak's defensive tackles, explains the Patriots' defense this way:

"The way we look at it," Antwine says, "you have to take away their rushing game or their passing game if you want to win. We like to eliminate that rushing game if we can."

If the Pats find a way to take away the passing game as well, that tight Eastern race will be over fast.

Kansas City leads the AFL in total offense with an average of 364.4 yards per game. The Chiefs also lead in rushing gain with 159 yards.

Redskins Face Rugged Slate

Face Baltimore, Dallas, Cleveland In Succession

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins are bidding for their best season in 10 years, but Coach Otto Graham doesn't care too much for history. He prefers to look into the future.

"We've got three good ones coming up," Graham told a news conference. "And I'm thinking only of Sunday's game with the Colts. That's enough to worry about."

The Colts routed Washington 35-0 in a pre-season game and have whipped the Redskins six straight times in regular games.

The Redskins have a 5-3 record but now face Baltimore, the Dallas Cowboys and the Cleveland Browns, in that order. Later in the season they have return matches with Dallas, the New York Giants and the Philadelphia Eagles, whom they defeated Sunday 27-13.

The 1966 Washington team won five of its first eight games and finished third behind the Giants and the Cardinals with a 6-6 record.

Wins 5 of 6

This year's Redskins have won five of their last six games, losing only to the lowly New York Giants during that span.

"We were terrible in that game," Graham said. "But it's hard to say our record should be 6 and 2. Who knows, if they weren't so bad against New York, they might not have been up for the Cardinals."

Graham refused to predict how the team might finish in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

"It's difficult to assess the club," he said. "We're not that good. We really have to fight for our lives out there."

"Atlanta gave us a difficult time, but everybody else has clobbered them."

"We haven't developed that killer instinct. It takes time to develop that pride... that esprit de corps."

"We were flat against the Giants and didn't come out ahead. We were also flat against Philadelphia and managed to come out ahead because they gave us two touchdowns."

Nebraska '11 Rises to Sixth

Notre Dame, MSU Still Running 1-2 In AP Ratings

By BEN OLAN Associated Press Sports Writer

Nebraska's convincing 35-0 victory over Missouri enabled the unbeaten Cornhuskers to move into sixth place in the Associated Press major-college football poll today.

Georgia Tech and Arkansas also gained ground while Notre Dame maintained a solid first-place margin over runner-up Michigan State.

Southern California, upset by Miami of Florida, tumbled four places to ninth, and Tennessee climbed into the Top Ten, replacing Wyoming.

Notre Dame, undefeated in six games, collected 39 first-place votes and 475 points in the latest balloting by a national panel of 49 sports writers and broadcasters. The Irish trampled Navy 31-7 last Saturday.

Michigan State held the No. 2 position with 437 points, including 60 for six first-place votes. The Spartans blanketed Northwestern 22-0 for their seventh victory without a defeat.

UCLA and Alabama held third and fourth places, respectively. The Bruins with 366 points and the Tide with 477 points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

Notre Dame plays Pittsburgh and Michigan State faces Iowa this weekend. The top-ranked teams will be at home.

In other games involving rated teams it'll be UCLA at Washington, Alabama vs. Louisiana State at Birmingham, Virginia at Georgia Tech, Nebraska at Kansas, Florida vs. Georgia at Jacksonville, Arkansas vs. Rice at Little Rock, California at Southern California and Chattanooga at Tennessee.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, season records and total points on a 10-97-65-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. Notre Dame (37) 6-0 475

2. Michigan State (6) 7-0 437

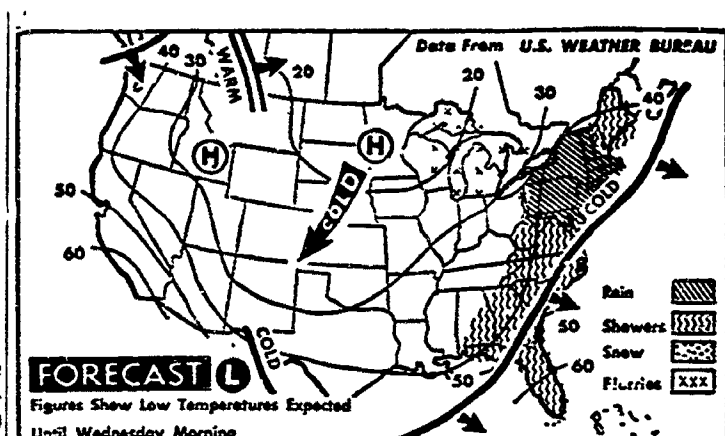

3. UCLA (3) 7-0 366

4. Alabama (1) 6-0 367

5. Georgia Tech 7-0 361

6. Nebraska 7-0 286

7. Florida 6-1 280

Gilmer Will be Retained, Says Lions' Owner

Fans Are Sure Head Coach Is On His Way Out

DETROIT (AP) — Is Detroit Lion Coach Harry Gilmer's neck under the axe?

According to fans of the National Football League, he's on his way out. As Green Bay whipped the Lions 31-7 here Sunday, they were singing, "Goodbye, Harry, we're going to see you gone."

Signs appeared in the stands saying "Bye, bye, Harry." A couple of them were well made, not something scratched out at halftime.

But the fan who owns the club, Bill Ford, who quite emphatically when he said, "We're going to keep him." For Ford, it's the same time he sang earlier this year it became apparent that the Lions were in trouble.

Gilmer, who has a three-year contract running through 1967, said, "I didn't see the signs and the singing was very poor."

Lose 5 Straight

But the Lions have lost five straight games and are 2-6 in the NFL's Western Division.

It's their longest losing streak in 11 years, since they dropped six straight in 1955. And it could easily go to six against the Chicago Bears this week.

Ford says Gilmer offered earlier to quit if that was Ford's wish. But Ford apparently wants Gilmer to stay.

Of course, if Gilmer were fired tomorrow, he wouldn't be the first sports figure to go right after getting a vote of confidence. But there are no whippers around where it counts that Gilmer is on the skids.

Of the booing and singing, Ford said, "Bobby Layne got that here, too. It's part of the game. We're 2-6. You can't expect anything else."

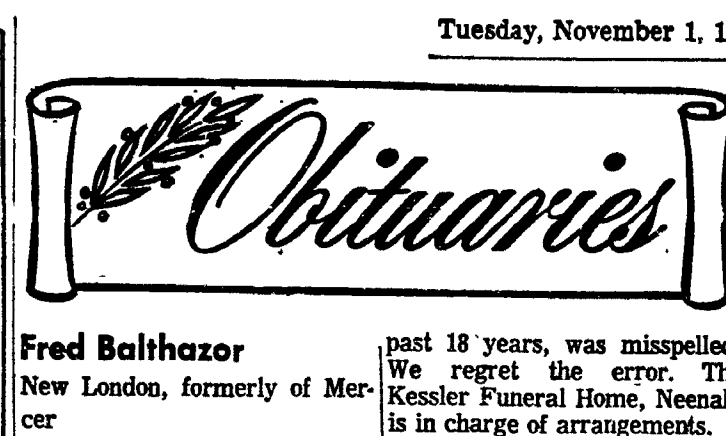

Three Directors Named at FVGC

KAUKAUNA — Ray Diedrich, Robert Jansen and James Minkebe were named directors of the Fox Valley Golf Club Saturday. Minkebe won his seat in a runoff with Lam Schommer.

The new directors will meet with hold-over directors later to elect club officers. Schommer reported on the progress of the new 18-hole golf club, completed for play in July, and estimated value of the new course at $270,000.

Kansas, Florida vs. Georgia at Jacksonville, Arkansas vs. Rice at Little Rock, California at Southern California and Chattanooga at Tennessee.

Gonzaga Mustangs Edge Out Piranha Gridders 651-635

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — They stopped playing football at Gonzaga University Monday night, 70 hours after the Friday kickoff.

The Mustangs beat the Piranha 651-635 in what backers of the marathon touch football game claim is the longest in collegiate history.

The players — dressed in sweatsuits, wool caps and gloves against below-freezing overnight temperatures — played six hours at a stretch. The teams varied from 6 to 8 men.

Students and the curious came and went. The boys — most of them sophomores — played on and on.

Lights and other equipment were furnished to illuminate the field by a power firm and an electrical contractor.

Seven Persons Killed

Communists Shell Saigon to Disrupt National Day Parade

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong unleashed an artillery bombardment on the center of Saigon today in a spectacular but unsuccessful attempt to disrupt South Viet Nam's National Day observances.

Six Vietnamese and one American were known dead. Conflicting reports listed up to six more killed but these reports could not be verified. The one American known dead was a Navy officer.

At least 30 Vietnamese and five Americans were wounded in the bombardment, the first time the Viet Cong shelled the capital with mortar and recoilless rifle fire.

Parade Route Hit
The Viet Cong hurled 24 rounds of 75mm recoilless rifle fire in and around the parade route, U.S. military headquarters said. Vietnamese authorities reported mortar shells also struck during the shelling.

The bombardment hit Saigon's Roman Catholic cathedral, a Catholic school, the John F. Kennedy Square, the Saigon central market and the French-built Grall Hospital, the biggest in the capital.

The bombardment, first of its kind by the Viet Cong against

Fox Lake Escapee Slain in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — One man returned the fire, emptying his .38 pistol. The fugitives finally were shot and killed early today and another captured following a high speed chase that ended in a gunfight with police in front of Milwaukee's central police headquarters.

The dead man was identified by police as Larry E. Gilchrist, 24, a former Mauston resident whose wife and two children live in Milwaukee. He was killed by a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun fired by Milwaukee patrolman Clifford Pilak.

Captured was Harold P. Kannich, 23, of Brookfield. Before he was subdued and taken into custody, he fought with a police officer and broke the officer's nose.

40 Police in Chase

As many as 40 police officers from suburban Wauwatosa and Milwaukee engaged in the chase and gun battle.

The chase, at speeds up to 90 miles an hour, began in Wauwatosa at 1:42 a.m., when Patrolman Terry Roundy recognized from a previous description the automobile in which the two fugitives were riding.

The chase led across lawns and the wrong way on a one-way street several miles into downtown Milwaukee. Squad cars from both Wauwatosa and Milwaukee participated. Several shots were exchanged.

Patrolman Dale Haberman, 33, Roundy's partner, said Kannich was driving the fugitive car and apparently was unarmed. But Gilchrist, who had a .22 caliber pistol, started firing at the squad car and Haberman.

Former Superior Man Arrested for Spying

'Mighty Good Job'

'We're Proud of You,' Johnson Tells GIs Stationed in Korea

CAMP STANLEY, Korea (AP) — "Keep your chin up and your chest out — we are proud of you and I came here to tell you so," President Johnson today told American troops confronting the Communists in Korea.

The President traveled by train and helicopter into the rugged South Korean countryside to pay tribute to Korean and American troops guarding the 151-mile border with Communist North Korea.

Speaking earnestly and in a low voice Johnson in an off-the-cuff speech told the troops 20 miles south of the demilitarized zone between North and South Korea they were "doing a mighty good job" of protecting freedom in the United States and many parts of the world. He said no matter what they may read about anti-Viet Nam demonstrators or draft card burners, the great bulk of Americans are like them — standing up for freedom.

Brazilians Deny Intrigue In Arrests

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Brazilian official says allegations of intrigue related by a convicted smuggler who fled Brazil and returned to his Texas home are "ridiculous."

The Texan, pilot Joseph A. Truhill, 47, of Richardson, said his conviction resulted from plans of Gen. Rio Grandino Krael, former chief of Brazil's federal security police, to seize a B26 aircraft for use in a search for a missing 400-carat diamond named 007.

The plane was owned by Sam Sexton Jr., 41, of Fort Smith, Ark., who escaped last week with Truhill and Joseph McCutcheon, 36, also of Fort Smith. The plane still is held in Brazil.

Brasilia Police Chief Jurandir Palma Cabral said Truhill's charge was "ridiculous," since the security police "can use air force planes whenever it needs them."

German-Born Airmen Accused; Red Diplomat Ordered Out of U. S.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A German-born U.S. airman has been arrested and a Soviet diplomat ordered to leave the country in the fourth major American spy case reported since July by the FBI.

Staff Sgt. Herbert William Boeckenhaupt, 23, was seized Monday by FBI agents at March Air Force Base in Riverside, Calif. He was arraigned here on a charge of conspiring to commit espionage to deliver to a Russian diplomat "information relating to the national defense of the United States."

Boeckenhaupt, who lived in Superior, Wis., with his family since immigrating to the United States in 1948, pleaded innocent. He was ordered held on $50,000 bail.

FBI Reveals Arrest

After the FBI announced the sergeant's arrest, the State Department asked Aleksey R. Malinin, commercial counsel at the Soviet Embassy in Washington, to leave the country as soon as possible.

Boeckenhaupt, stationed at the Pentagon from April 1964 to August 1965, allegedly met secretly with Malinin in June 1965 and April 1966. He had enlisted in the Air Force in 1960 at the age of 17.

The FBI did not disclose whether any money was involved in the alleged meetings, nor whether any information was actually passed.

The FBI said Boeckenhaupt met with Malinin in June 1965, in an Arlington, Va., suburb where Malinin questioned the serviceman about his duties at the Pentagon.

The men reportedly met again in a bowling alley parking lot last April, and Malinin gave Boeckenhaupt a 35mm slide that pinpointed "drop areas" and meeting places, the FBI said.

Boeckenhaupt lives with his wife near March Air Force Base. Agents said his apartment was "searched with the sergeant's consent last week."

U.S. Commissioner Russell R. Herman, set a preliminary hearing on the case for Nov. 18.

"I'm not guilty," the tall, dark-haired sergeant told newsmen.

Malinin, 45, came to the United States Sept. 12, 1963 and was assigned to the Soviet Embassy two months later.

Chicago Sniper Kills Girl, Wounds Tot While Shooting at Youths

CHICAGO (AP) — A 4-year-old girl was killed and her infant brother was wounded Monday night when a bullet smashed through a window of their South Side home as their mother was putting them to bed.

The victim was Theresa Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Cole. Her 3-month-old brother, Gerald, was shot in the foot.

Police were seeking a sniper believed to have been shooting at a group of youths with a .30 caliber carbine. They said the sniper fled on foot after firing about a dozen rounds.

Jurors Visit Scene of Mrs. Sheppard's Death

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Samuel H. Sheppard's jury in the murder of his first wife today visited the suburban lake-front home where the couple once lived and where she died in 1954 with 27 bone-deep gashes in her head.

Their view of the scene will be followed with opening court arguments in Sheppard's second-degree murder retrial, now in its second week. His original jury conviction 12 years ago was upset by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Owned by Lawyer
The Sheppards' home now is owned by a lawyer, John R. Hull, who has agreed to inspection of the premises by the seven male and five women jurors.

It was in an upstairs bedroom that the body of Marilyn Sheppard, then 31 and four months pregnant, was found the morning of July 4, 1954. Sheppard, 42, says she was slain by a bushy-haired stranger who knocked her unconscious.

A flurry of activity marked the close of Monday's trial session.

Lock Jury Up
Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Talty ordered the jury locked up as of tonight. The Supreme Court was critical of the failure to isolate the original trial jury when it was not in court.

Judge Talty told the jurors they would stay in a Cleveland hotel.

In another decision, Talty ruled that Sheppard's trial would remain in Cleveland. The defense sought to have it moved elsewhere on grounds that "general exposure" to publicity had made impaneling of an unbiased jury impossible.

Democrat Myhra Challenges Odds-on Favorite

Tough GOP Tradition in 7th District

Norman L. Myhra is running for an office as a Democrat in a district which doesn't know such a thing exists.

"This is a very staunch Republican area," is the way he understates the situation. But he adds, "That doesn't bother me any."

Myhra, born near Amherst in Portage County and now living in Stevens Point, has the unenviable task of unseating the 94-year incumbent in the 7th congressional district, Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Marshfield.

Myhra's campaign is one he has organized himself and one he conducts primarily by himself. He campaigns with his wife often, but gone are the streams of party backers which traditionally flock around candidates.

The campaign has been a tiring one and the three weeks leading up to the Nov. 8 election are the worst. Myhra's normal work day is squeezed into a period that starts before 5 a.m. and ends after midnight.

"I have trouble relaxing these days," he admits. "The only way I can relax is by sitting down and doing nothing or by driving my car." His car has been driven 90,000 miles in the past two years.

The 7th district is big. It lies from Forest and Florence counties on the Upper Michigan border to Adams and Marquette counties, only scant miles from Wisconsin's capital city.

It has been Myhra's job to canvass this 15-county area and do it well if he expects to run even a reasonably close second place to Laird on Nov. 8. He has, of course, been in all the counties to campaign, but he concentrates his work in the three counties in the center of the state which have a higher population than the other 12 in the district.

Laird Driving Hard Despite Victory Forecast

There are few spectacles more fun to participate in than an old-fashioned political rally, complete with plenty of blaring music, amplified voices, campaign signs, endless handshaking, backslapping and picture-taking and pretty girls.

Such fun is what makes voters gather around politicians — often it is what makes them vote for the man who provided the fun.

Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Marshfield has been in the House of Representatives since 1952 and, unless he decides to seek higher political office some day, it is conceivable he will remain in Congress forever.

For Laird is one of the most influential Republicans in Congress. His credentials, which need not be listed, mean nothing, however, if he cannot get re-elected to Congress every two years to use them.

The 7th district incumbent was in Waupaca County last week end, when he left, it was doubtful if more than a small percentage of the voters in the cities and villages he visited were unaware of his stop.

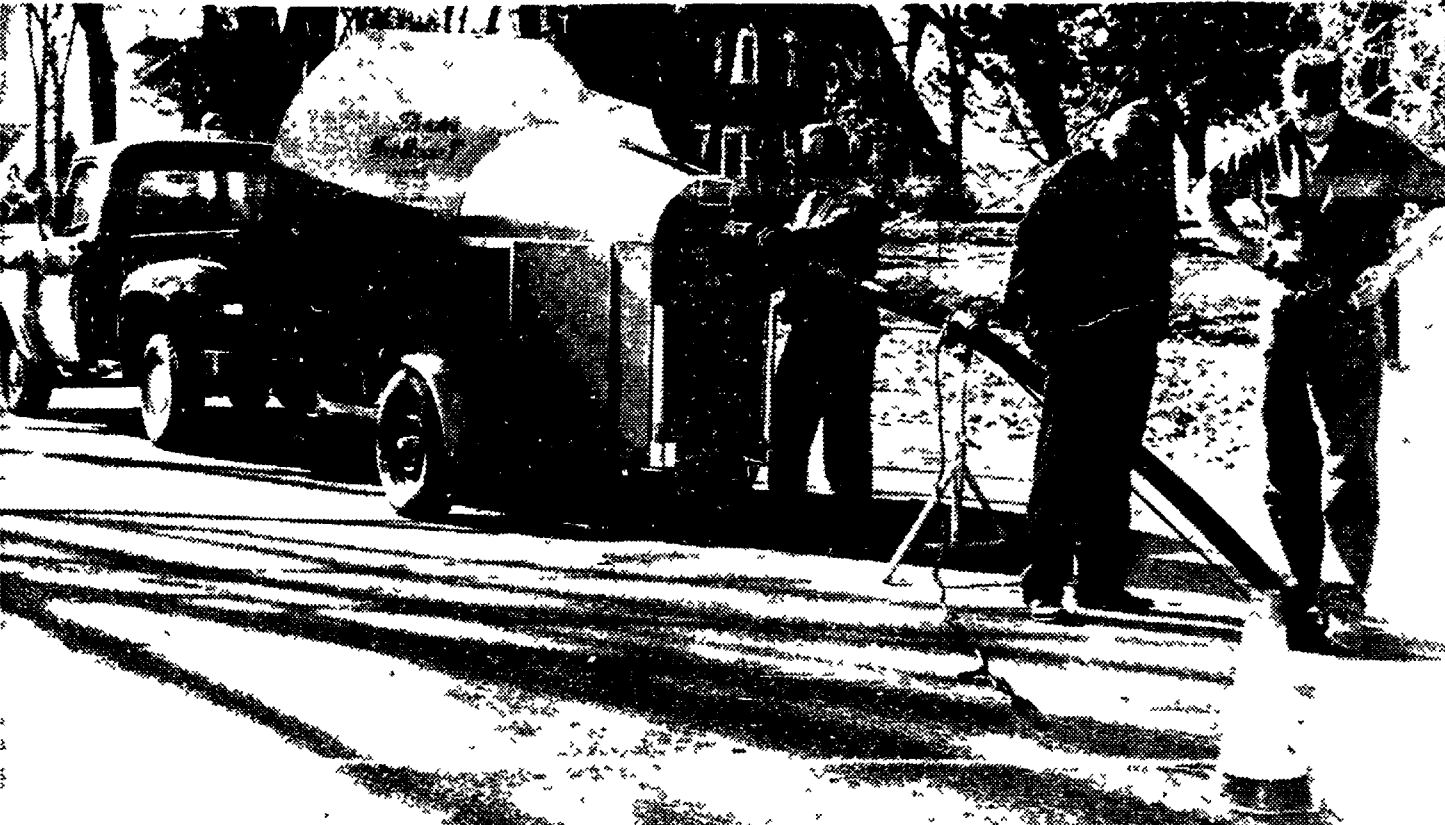

Flamboyant Trip
Laird's trip through the county — from Waupaca to Weyauwega to Fremont to Readfield to New London to Manawa to Clintonville — was every bit as flamboyant as a small scale national convention. He traveled officially, with a caravan comprised of a dozen or so vehicles, including a sound truck which played over and over a tape recording of the congressman's deeds.

CESA Committee Holds Up Action on Merger Petition

Ceci Claims Lucey Utilizes 'Lie' Campaign

Tells Chilton Group Knowles Isn't Ignoring Northland

CHILTON—Louis J. Ceci, the Republican candidate for attorney general, said here Tuesday afternoon that Lt. Gov. Patrick Lucey is utilizing a "big lie" technique in his Northern Wisconsin advertising.

Sneaking at the Chilton Hotel to the Chilton Federation of Republican Women, Ceci said he had been shown northern Wisconsin newspaper advertising by the Lucey for Governor committee that accuses Gov. Warren P. Knowles of "forgetting the North."

"Nothing could be further from the truth," Ceci said, and both the citizens and the newspapers should challenge the use of fraud and deceit in advertising.

"Among many examples of Knowles' concern for the North, several come quickly to mind. Lucey has charged that the North has been neglected in appointments, and yet D. K. Tyler of Phillips was appointed to the Conservation Commission and Sinto Wessman of Superior has been named to the State University Board of Regents, certainly two of the most prestigious commissions in the state.

"In 1964 Knowles began talking about building a retirement industry in northern Wisconsin, and he has continued to encourage it. Recently he spoke to a group of retirees in Eagle River who have formed such a colony there, and there were 285 persons in the audience.

"He has spoken scores of times throughout northern Wisconsin, including college and university commencement exercises in Superior, Ashland, Ladysmith, Eau Claire and elsewhere."

$2 Tax Rate Reduction Seen In Brillion's Budget for 1967

Lower City, School Costs Listed As Responsible; Total Value Up

BRILLION — Taxes here will be lower next year but exactly how much depends on the city's share of state and county spending.

These two factors have not yet been included in a budget proposal for 1967 which promises a tax rate reduction of about $2 per $1,000 assessed valuation from the current year's $20.26 rate.

According to the budget to be presented to the city's taxpayers at a public hearing at 8:15 p.m., Nov. 11, the tax rate for city needs will be $2.82, down from $2.93, and the rate for school needs will be $11.97, down from $13.81.

Instrumental in the decreases are a proposed city budget decrease of $61,815, to $370,415, a proposed drop in the city's share of the school budget of $132, to $170,871, and a $19 million increase in the city's assessed valuation which now stands at $14,281,350.

In the current year's budget, county and state demands amounted to $33.33 and 18 cents, respectively, per $1,000 assessed valuation.

Total City Levy

The city's outside revenues when applied against local needs, leave $40,361 as the levy for proposed city purposes. This compares with $36,279 raised in taxes for city spending a year ago.

Estimate revenues from sources other than direct taxes would produce $248,420 next year, compared with $200,750 for the current year.

A anticipated unencumbered surplus funds at the end of 1967 would be $81,634. This year's surplus funds are to total $195,201.

Absent from the proposed budget is $177,253 appropriated in the 1966 budget for the city's sewer and water main project. Municipal enterprises are therefore proposed at $29,714 for 1967, compared with $198,513 for 1966.

Street blacktopping and new sidewalks account for a $114,693 proposal in the streets and highways category, an increase of $63,259.

Sidewalk Work

A $61,228 expenditure is proposed to finance an extensive street blacktopping project and $29,500 for more than five miles of sidewalk installation is suggested. Sidewalk work is far behind schedule and will not be completed this year as anticipated, according to the contractor, Henry Verbruggen Construction Co., Little Chute.

Property owners will be assessed individually for the work.

The city proposes to set aside $70,000 for a community recreation and meeting center. The need for this type of facility is being studied by the citizens' advisory committee.

Other intended appropriations are general government, $72,280, up $132; protection of person and property, $34,507, up $3,752; health and sanitation, $10,372, down $4,859; charities, $6,000, unchanged; education, $13,061, up $3,861, primarily due to tuition to be paid to outside schools, and parks and recreation, $16,788, up $939.

American Can Announces Two Appointments

Marathon Products Officers Join Firm In New York

Two stock products division officers of Marathon Products, a division of American Can Co., have been appointed to new positions with the service products marketing division of the parent company, it was announced Monday.

John G. Hollingsworth has been named sales manager. He previously was field sales manager of Marathon stock products.

Edward H. Morgan has been appointed director of marketing for service products. He previously was marketing manager for Marathon.

Hollingsworth joined the company in 1952 in Neenah as a sales trainee for the former Marathon Corp., acquired by American Can in 1957. He became a stock products sales representative in Los Angeles in 1954 and, the following year, became responsible for the Southern California and Arizona territory. In 1960 he was appointed merchandising manager for restaurant packaging, and in 1963 became southwestern regional sales manager for Marathon stock products.

Lawrence Graduate

A native of Wausau, he received a bachelor's degree in economics from Lawrence University in 1952.

Morgan joined the company in 1935 as a sales representative for the former Marathon Corp. After serving in varied sales positions in the Cleveland and New York areas, he became east central regional sales manager in 1946, eastern sales manager in 1952, and national sales manager in 1960.

Born in Cleveland, he majored in business and law at the University of Minnesota. He is a member of the board of directors of the Tissue Association, and the Food Tray and Board Association, both of New York City.

Tract of Land In Grand Chute Offered to City

34.5 Acres Formerly $85,000, Now for Sale at $100,000

An offer to sell 34.5 acres of land to the city for $100,000 for use as an industrial area, future school site, park or recreation area was received today by the plan commission.

The commission referred the offer to the board of public works to see if the city would be interested in acquiring the land on S. Bluemound Drive in the Town of Grand Chute, contiguous to the city's industrial park.

Joseph J. Engel, representing a local firm, submitted the offer and outlined the possible land uses.

"I think it would be a good thing for the city to get this property so its boundaries will then extend all the way out to Bluemound Drive," Engel said.

Offered 6 Years Ago

Acting Public Works Director Donald Bengs said it was the same area which was offered the city about six years ago or so for about $85,000. He said at the time the city was interested in acquiring the property.

An aerial view of the 34.5 acre tract showed a wide ravine passing through the property.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen said some problems could arise in servicing the property, noting that a portion would be in the town's sanitary sewer district while the remainder would have city services.

Rasmussen suggested the owner annex the land to the city before attempting to sell it.

Engel said his client at this time was only interested in selling the property.

The tract lies on Bluemound Drive and then extends easterly to Lilas Street and the city's present corporate limits.

Series of Operations

Start Fund Drive For Ailing Fireman

CLINTONVILLE — A fund-raising campaign is underway here for a 27-year-old Appleton fireman who has undergone three operations for a malignant brain tumor.

Gary Wied, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallard Wied, had two operations at Theda Clark Hospital in Neenah before he was flown to Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. Oct. 17. He had his third operation there and according to the latest "progress report" received at the Appleton Fire Department, is further suffering from an infection and running a temperature.

Severe Headaches

Wied, whose father is police captain, has been in and out of Fox Valley hospitals since January when he began suffering severe headaches with double vision. He has been off work since May 22, according to fire department records.

Wied, who is single, has been with the fire department for more than five years and, prior to going on extended sick leave, worked shifts in the alarm room.

Donations for Wied will be accepted at the Dairyman's State Bank and Clintonville National Bank. An envelope campaign also will get underway this week in the residential areas.

Savings Gone

Directing the campaign are William Martens, John Beuhrens, Lyle Harrison, Roland Sipiorski and Mrs. Harvey Schroeder. Seven ward captains are assisting.

Martens said in making the appeal for contributions, that Wied's savings are gone, as are most of his insurance benefits. Expenses total several thousands of dollars, Martens said.

The Appleton Fire Fighters Association Local 257 also has assisted in paying the medical bills.

Three School Plans Given For Calumet

CHILTON — A decision on the petition to detach a portion of the Stockbridge School District and attach it to the Chilton district, was delayed until Nov. 28 by the Cooperative Educational Service Agency No. 10 School Reorganization Committee at a meeting here Monday.

According to Andrew Houwer, Sheboygan Falls, chairman of the committee, the purpose of the delay is to give the school boards of Hilbert, Brillion, Stockbridge and Chilton time to study reorganization plans and discuss voluntary mergers.

The petition for attachment, which would include the area south of Country Trunk F to the east shore of Lake Winnebago and a large portion to the northeast, has an equalized valuation of more than $800,000.

If the school boards agree to one of the three plans presented by Clarence Wentland of the State Department of Public Instruction, the CESA committee would not have to make a decision on the Stockbridge request.

New High School

One of the plans calls for merging the Hilbert, Brillion and Stockbridge districts. All elementary children would remain in the same schools, but the high schools would be consolidated. Under this plan, a new high school would be built, as none of the existing high schools could accommodate all the students.

The second plan involves joining the Stockbridge, Hilbert and Chilton schools. Under this plan, all high school students would attend Chilton High School and a junior high school.

Educate Children or Adults?

Appleton Catholics Ponder Parochial School Direction

Should money designated by the Appleton Catholic parishes for education be spent on the adults, pre-school children, pupils attending public schools or should it be used to step up the existing parochial school program?

These were the questions discussed by a four-member panel at St. Barnard parish, the first in a series of panel discussions at each of the parishes on the role of the Catholic school system today.

Participating panelists were Dr. Francis Broderick, dean of Lawrence University-Milwaukee; Downer College; the Rev. Patrick Smuts, assistant pastor of St. Bernadette; Francis Scholtz, diocesan director of music for the Catholic schools; and Sister St. Mel from Holy Family College, Manitowoc.

Needs Understanding

"Each of us needs more understanding, more training and more fresh thought to meet the demands of the Church, renewed since the Vatican II, and we should embark immediately upon the education of the whole parish, especially the adults who will otherwise be left behind their children," said Broderick.

He also proposed that no further long-range commitments on parochial or city-wide school buildings be made until parishes are able to see whether the churches can meet the needs at least over the period in which they have to pay for them.

"When the financial squeeze becomes intolerable, judge between an adult church with an apostolate that embraces the range of Christian living in the 20th century and a children's church that devotes 80 per cent of its resources to teaching a bare plurality of our children," he said.

Widened Vision

Father Smuts presented the view that the vision of the Catholic parishes be widened and that they work for a more proportionate distribution of funds so other prime Christian goals can be met.

"We now spend about 80 per cent of the money on parochial education, and it would seem to me that other areas demand some of this money in proportion to their importance," he said.

This, he added, might lead to a Turn to Page 3, Col. 7

Clintonville Man Hurt in Crash

CLINTONVILLE — Peter D. Johnson, 23, 124 Seventh St., was taken to the Clintonville Community Hospital for treatment of abrasions and cuts about the head received in an accident at 1:05 a.m. Sunday on E. Madison Street, just east of Auto Street.

Clintonville police said Johnson lost control of his car on a curve. The vehicle crossed the center line, skidded approximately 30 feet and struck a sign post with the right front fender. Damage was estimated at $150.

3 Fined for Topsy Driving

Two Sentenced in Outagamie Court, One in Winnebago

Two motorists each were fined $150 and a third assessed $100 Monday morning on charges of driving while under the influence of intoxicants.

Appearing in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 where $150 fines were assessed were Robert Nowak, 68, 331 1/2 Foster St., and Gerald F. Baumgartner, 24, route 1, Oneida.

Nowak, was arrested about 12:10 a.m. Oct. 5 in the 400 block of Foster Street. He pleaded innocent the same day, but this morning changed his plea to no contest and was found guilty.

Baumgartner was arrested by Outagamie County police April 23 on the Seminary Road in the Town of Oneida. He changed his plea to guilty this morning.

Edward H. Blank, 64, 148 N. Lake St., Neenah, was fined $100 and costs with an alternative of 30 days in jail, when he pleaded guilty in Winnebago County Court Branch 3.

He was arrested by county police Sunday at U.S. 110 and County Trunk T one mile west of Oshkosh.

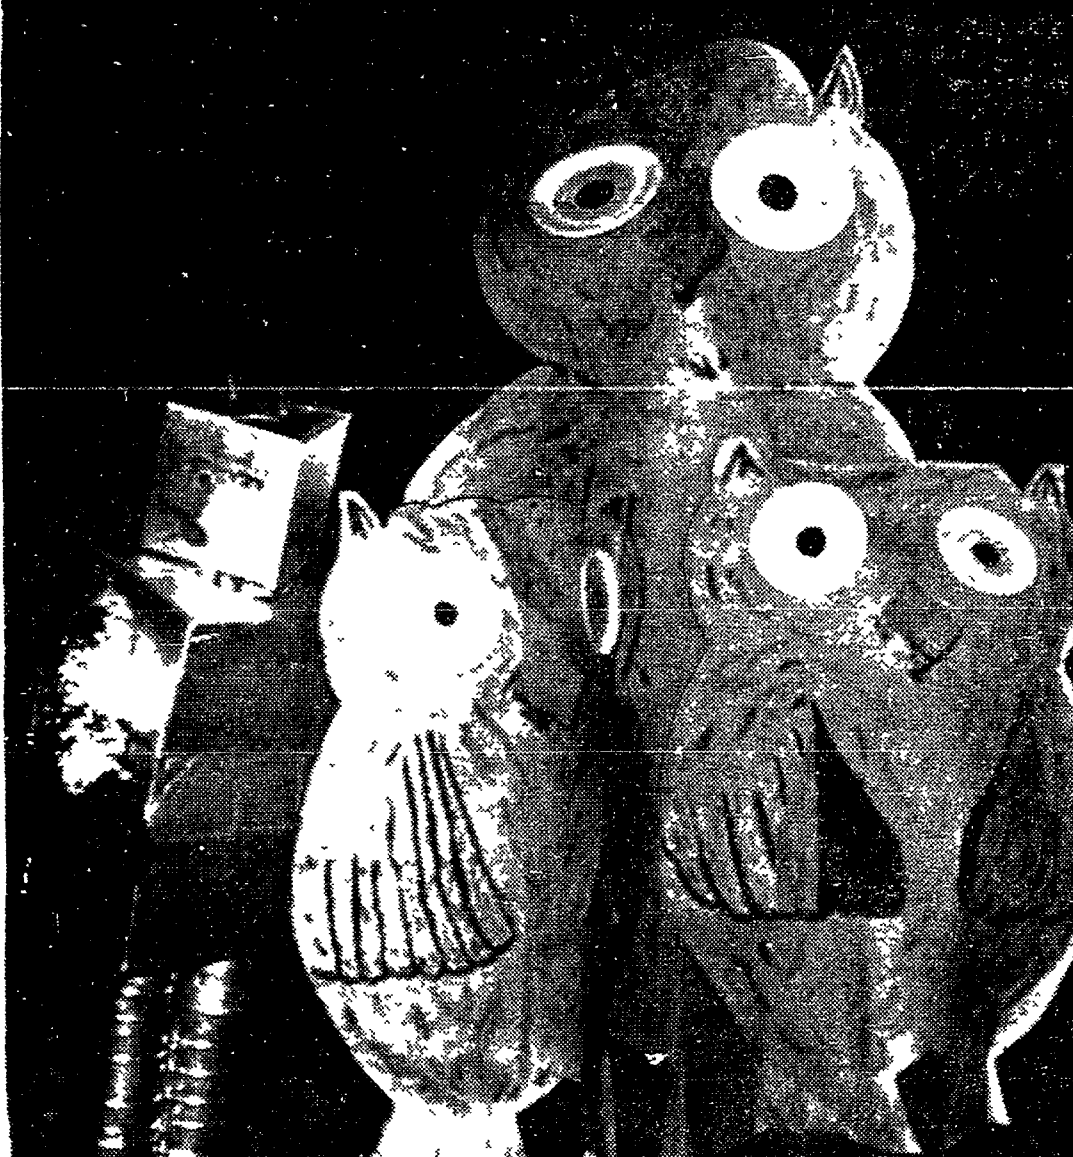

All three men lost their right to drive for one year.

Fox River Gets $400,000 for Navigation Work

Funds totaling $410,000 for navigation work on the Fox River are included in $5.72 million for Wisconsin navigation, flood control and conservation projects for the next fiscal year.

The money is an Army Corps of Engineers allocation for use on 23 civil works projects in the state.

Other projects include work on the Eau Claire River, Green Bay Harbor, Kenosha Harbor and Kickapoo River.

350 Children in Costume Parade

NEW LONDON — More than 350 youngsters paraded through the business district Monday in the annual Jaycee Halloween Parade in a line that stretched longer than three city blocks.

George Plowman, program chairman, said 800 bags of assorted candy, fruits and peanuts were distributed at the Washington School auditorium.

Funds for the event were contributed by 75 merchants through sustaining memberships in the Jaycees.

The program consisted of the parade, awarding of 16 prizes to outstanding costumes, movies and distribution of treats.

Warden Can't Take Away Youth's Shotgun; Judge Can

A 16-year-old Appleton youth who reportedly refused to surrender his shotgun to a conservation warden who arrested him, Friday afternoon was fined a total of $75 and costs or 36 days in jail. In addition, his gun was confiscated.

William R. Herbst, 816 Briarcliff Drive, and Charles Tyvol, 18, 907 N. Harriman St., both pleaded guilty of having three pen pheasants in their possession and of hunting pheasants during closed season.

Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller fined the youths $25 and costs each on the first count and $50 each on the second.

Judge Keller ordered Herbst's shotgun confiscated, saying "maybe it's the best way to correct a misconception that you don't have to surrender a gun to a game warden."

The youth's father, Robert, had told the court his son did not want to give up his gun to the warden at the time of the arrest, "because he thought it would be an admission of his guilt."

The arresting warden told the court he got the gun following a "short tussle."

Herbst and Tyvol were arrested Oct. 16 in the Town of Buchanan.

Nov. 11 Hearing Set On Merger Appeal

Four Bear Creek Residents Ask State to Set Aside School Order

NEW LONDON — An informal CESA committee's decision. The mal hearing on the attachment first is a petition to bring the of about 1,860 acres of Bear Creek school district land to the Nov. 8 in the form of a New London district by the referendum.

Cooperative Educational Service Should both of the current Agency No. 8 school reorganization appeals be acted on in support of committee on Aug. 25, will of the committee's decision, be conducted at 2:30 p.m. Nov. Circuit Court and State Su-11 at the state capitol, Madison, preme Court appeals would remain.

The hearing was called by the State Appeal Board to hear an appeal by four residents of the Bear Creek School District on the CESA committee action.

On Aug. 25, the school reorganization committee acted favorably on a petition by 33 Bear Creek School District residents to be attached to the New London district. The 22 tracts of land total about 1,860 acres.

Appeal Action
Four other Bear Creek school district residents, Thomas J. Bessette, route 1, Bear Creek; Mrs. Viola Lehman, Bear Creek; Mrs. Richard Glocke, route 1, Bear Creek, and Henry J. Lorge, route 1, Bear Creek, on Sept. 19 appealed the committee's action with the State Department of Public Instruction.

William C. Kahl, state superintendent of public instruction, said in a written notice to New London and Bear Creek school officials, that the board would hear informally any interested person who wishes to present materials or information related to the appeal or anyone wishing to present such material in writing.

Kahl said any written material is to be in the form of a letter or written statement and is to be received by his office by next Monday.

Weekend Production

Seymour Community Players Give Gem-Like Presentation of 'Opal'

BY PATRICK DUFFEY
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

SEYMOUR—Opal was a jewel in the weekend production of "Everybody Loves Opal," presented by the Seymour Community Players at the elementary school.

But the transformation of the young, former music teacher to a middle-aged and lovable queen of the dump was the beauty which caught the eye of an appreciative audience.

No one could help but love Opal in return for her rather simple-minded trust, not even the trio of conniving con artists who hope to cash in on a $30,000 life insurance policy on their new landlord.

Opal's tenants also were gems and well-cast for their parts by Mrs. Allen Butcher, who directed the production. It was written by John Patrick, better known for his "Teahouse of the August Moon."

Mrs. William Dulan, who portrayed Gloria, the moll of the trio, operated under the double handicap of being new to the community and being cast in a difficult role. She overcame both handicaps with enjoyable ease.

Rough and Tumble
Her partners in crime likewise were well-suited for their roles. Robert Coonen was a natural as a rough and tumble but warmhearted Mickey-Rooney-type Sully.

Tom Duffey Jr. seemed at home in his scholarly poetry-quoting throne from which he looked down at his subjects.

Even his black heart couldn't beat back the throbs of Opal's loveliness.

Tom Landwehr Jr. appeared well-suited in his policeman's role. Even the uniform fit.

He and Opal gained a special friendship after her travels through the dump uncovered evidence which solved a case he was on.

As their name suggests, the Community Players had wide support in their preparations.

And that's as it should be when you're trying to develop a cultural activity in a growing but small city.
